Man Killed as Auto, Freight Train Collide

Wesley J. Breyer
Killed Instantly
Near Medina

CAR IS SMASHED

Fatal Accident Occurs at Grade Crossing on Highway 10

Wesley J. Breyer, 57, Medina, was killed instantly when his car and a southbound Chicago and North Western freight train collided at a crossing a half mile east of Medina shortly before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Breyer, who was alone and traveling east, was thrown about 25 feet by the impact, his body striking a signal abutment. He died of a broken neck. The car was demolished.

Harry Langlois, Appleton, engineer, stated that he blew the train whistle three times in approaching the crossing. Breyer's view of the tracks was hampered by a large building. County authorities were told the wig-wag signal at the crossing was operating.

District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr and Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, county coroner, investigated and reported there would be no inquest. The traffic death is the second in the county thus far this year.

Breyer was born in Medina May 15, 1882, and lived there his entire life. He operated a service station at Medina the last eight years.

Survivors are one son, Erwin, Medina; two brothers, Alvin, Birnamwood; Jesse, Medina; and three grandchildren.

Funeral Services
Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon at the home of his son at Medina, and at 2 o'clock at the Medina Methodist church. The Rev. Daniel DeBrill will be in charge and burial will be in the South Medina cemetery. The body is at the home of his son.

Bearers will be A. P. Stengel, E. H. Knutzen, Art Yankeo, Earl Ruppel, Robert Riesberry and Clair Earl, Medina.

Cars driven by A. LaCount, 636 Seventh street, Menasha, and John Oppelt, 404 Pine street, Menasha, collided about 1 o'clock yesterday morning in Appleton and Miss Dorothy Brantmeier, 18, 785 Racine street, Menasha, an occupant of the Oppelt car, was bruised about the face. LaCount was going south on Walnut street and Oppelt west on Sixth street when the collision occurred at the intersection, according to a report given police.

A car driven by Ernest Samp, 28, 260 Bowen street, Oshkosh, struck the railroad wig-wag signal on W. College avenue about 8:40 last night. Samp was making a turn from S. Memorial drive to go east on the avenue when the accident occurred, according to police.

Menomonie, Wis.—(7)—Clifford Hammond, 35, Downing farmer, died in a hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday in a truck-train collision in which his son Eugene, 9, was killed.

Coroner Lauren Miller said the engineer of the Soo Line train blew his whistle 200 feet from the crossing but that Hammond, driving his farm truck, apparently did not hear the warning.

Delays Dejection on Plea for Injunction

Toledo, Ohio—(7)—Judge Lee N. Murlin today held in abeyance action on an injunction requested by the AFL United Automobile Workers of America to restrain CIO Auto Workers from interfering with their right of employment at the Electric Auto-Lite company.

Judge Murlin said future events at the Auto-Lite and conduct of both parties would govern him, but warned he would issue an injunction without hearing if any violence occurred. He said he would work out later with lawyers details for everyone's return to work.

The AFL unionists contended they were menaced and intimidated by CIO members as they attempted to enter the Auto-Lite company plant Feb. 1. They have been idle since that time.

There is a popular belief that Irishmen make the best policemen—and we're inclined to agree. At least the sons of Erin never have to be coaxed into action when there's a fight in the offing.

The Irish are good fighters—and they usually get results. Post-Crescent Want Ads get results, without having to fight for them, however. Whatever your wants may be, you'll find them ready to serve you efficiently and economically.

Probe Indicates Youth Killed His Parents and Self

Coroner Believes Slayer
Set Barn Afire and Shot Himself

Random Lake, Wis.—(7)—Coroner Wesley Van Zanten, piecing together the evidence of a farm tragedy, concluded today that a 22-year-old youth shot and killed his mother and father and then perished, perhaps after shooting himself, in a barn which he set afire.

The coroner said that human bones found in the ruins yesterday apparently were those of the youth, Roland Krahn.

The mother, Mrs. Selma Krahn, 45, was shot to death as Roland's grandmothers, Mrs. Bertha Krahn and Mrs. Tillie Bleck, watched.

Neighbors, attracted by the flames, found the body of the father, Henry Krahn, 48, in a part of the barn not yet reached by the blaze.

"Broke Up" With Girl
Coroner Van Zanten was informed that young Krahn recently had "broke up" with a girl friend, although he had planned on an Easter marriage; that he was despondent and that he had quarreled with his parents at the supper table Saturday night about the matter.

From the grandmothers, who lived at the farm, the coroner learned that the youth's mother had gone to bed ill after the quarrel.

Later, as they sat at her bedside, Roland entered an adjoining room carrying a shotgun and fired at his mother through an open door. The charge killed her outright and narrowly missed the other women, the coroner said.

Then the youth ran to the barn, where his father was doing chores. Van Zanten said his examination showed that the elder Krahn had been shot through the chest and that his skull had been crushed, as though from a hammer blow.

Flood Control and Navigation Bills are Drafted for Senate

Washington—(7)—Three omnibus bills to authorize $412,638,600 of federal expenditures for navigation, flood control, and multiple-purpose waterways projects were drafted today by a senate commerce subcommittee.

It divided the big river and harbor bill, which many said would not be passed, into three separate measures. Without recommendation, the subcommittee will submit the three new bills to the full commerce group tomorrow. The bills were:

For flood control, $36,679,500; for navigation, $161,066,100; and for multiple-purpose projects—navigation, flood control and hydro-electric power—$214,893,000.

Among items in the navigation bill were:

- Mississippi river between the Ohio and Missouri rivers (Chain of Rocks, Ill., and Mo.), $10,290,000;
- Mississippi river between Missouri river and Minneapolis (at Cochrane, Wis.), $25,000;
- Illinois waterway, Ill., and Indiana Harbor and canal, Ind., $25,900,000;
- Green Bay harbor, Wis., $56,000;
- Milwaukee harbor, Wis., $110,000;
- Calumet harbor and river, Ill., and Ind., $810,000.

Senate Refuses Fund
As Economy Gesture

Washington—(7)—The senate voted today, 43 to 27, a $20,000 appropriation for American participation in the Inter-Parliamentary union after appropriation committee members had demanded the action as a demonstration of economy sentiment.

The union is an organization of representatives of legislative bodies of the world. Supporters of the house-approved appropriation had urged its enactment as a symbol of this nation's faith in democratic and peaceful processes.

Roosevelt to Inspect Pacific
Side of Canal Zone Defenses;
Will Receive Panama Leaders

Panama City—(7)—President Roosevelt, vacationing at sea aboard the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa, will stop at Balboa tomorrow for a thorough inspection of the Pacific side defenses of the Canal Zone before continuing his trip.

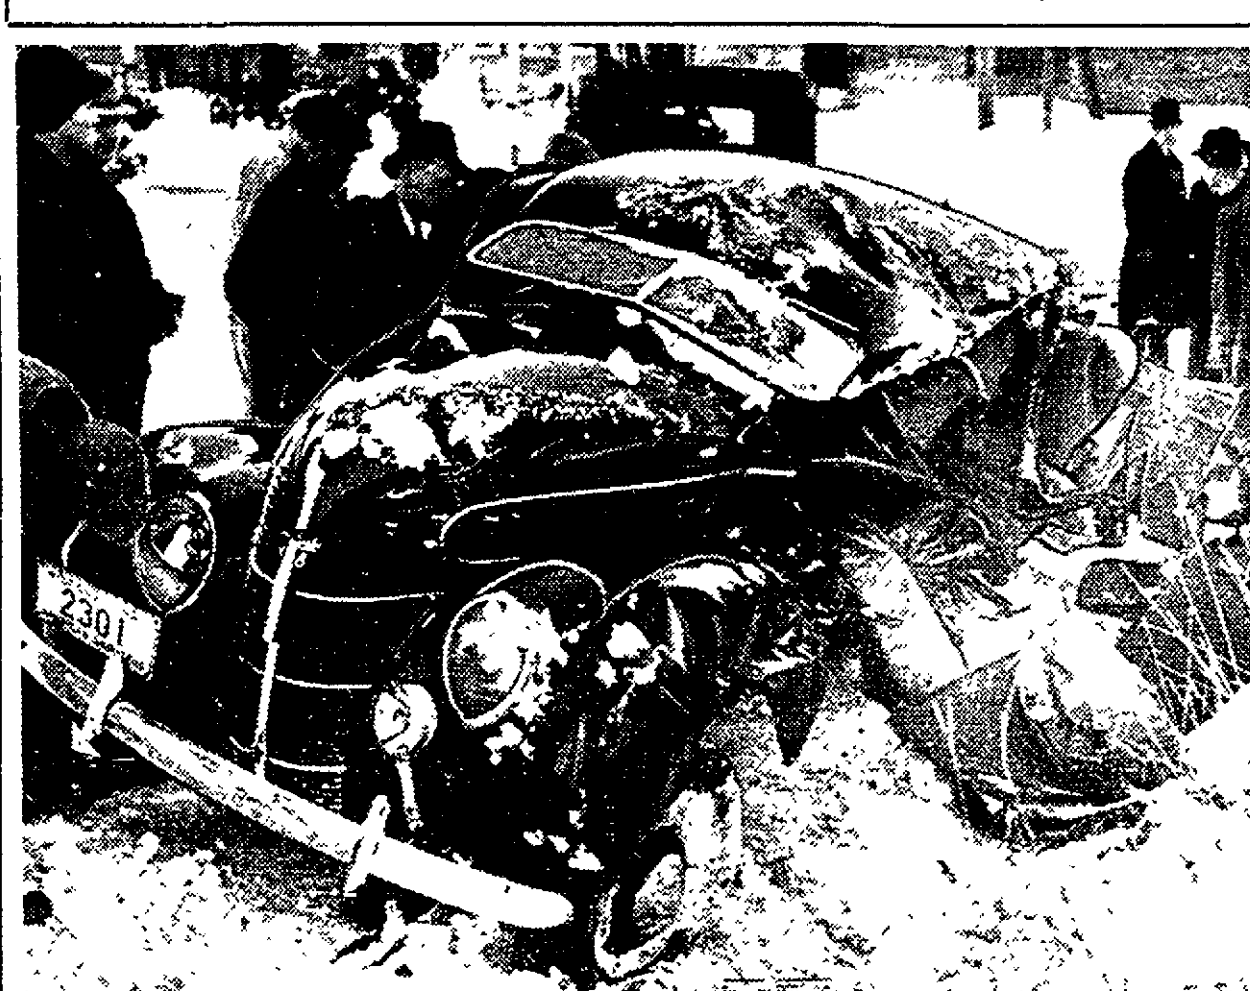

Military authorities said that navy and army planes would escort the cruiser into Balboa harbor, where the president will receive Major General Daniel Van Voorhis commanding general at the Canal Zone; Clarence Ridley, Panama Canal governor, and Ambassador William Dawson.

The conference will be followed by an interview with labor representatives. The president will then receive Dr. Ramon Arias, former president of Panama and his family, including Dr. Arnulfo Arias, candidate for president, and later Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, former Panamanian minister to the United States, who is also running for the presidency.

The inspection tour will include a visit to Fort Amador, Albrook field, Fort Clayton, Camp Paraso, the naval ammunition depot, Howard field and Fort Kobbe.

Manton Is Denied High Court Review

Tribunal Refuses to Act
On Conviction of Former Jurist

Washington—(7)—Martin T. Manton, former senior federal circuit court judge at New York, failed today to obtain a supreme court review of his conviction on a charge of conspiracy to sell judicial favors.

At the same time, the tribunal agreed to review a decision which held that a labor union which engages in a sit-down strike was not liable for damages under the 1890 Sherman anti-trust act.

In addition, the justices returned to a three-judge federal court in Florida litigation involving constitutionality of a 1935 Florida law authorizing the fixing of minimum prices—based on the cost of production—at which citrus fruit could be purchased from the growers.

Justice Roberts, who delivered the majority decision, said the three judge court "committed serious error" in holding the act unconstitutional when it was before it was a motion for a temporary injunction to restrain enforcement of the measure.

3 Children and Women
Rescued From Flames

Milwaukee—(7)—Onlookers rescued three small children and a woman as fire destroyed the home of Christ Riordan, Sr., operator of a riding academy, just beyond the Milwaukee-Waukesha county line on Blue Mound road yesterday.

Saved from the blazing building were Riordan's three children, Gwendolyn, 7; Dennis, 5; and Chris, Jr., 3, and the housekeeper, Miss Mary Ritz, 35.

Scottish Ship Is Sunk
With Loss of 4 Lives

London—(7)—The Glasgow steamer Lock Maddy, 4,996 tons, was torpedoed in the north Atlantic Thursday with the loss of four lives, and a British warship which rescued 35 survivors was believed to have sunk the submarine attacker, it was announced today.

The mother, Mrs. Dessie Denton, was taken home two weeks after the children were born.

No Effort Is Made to Open Cleveland Church

Cleveland—(7)—Quiet prevailed during the weekend in Holy Redeemer Catholic parish where a near-riot a week ago by approximately 2,000 protesting parishioners prevented installation of the Rev. Vincent Caruso, pastor-designate, and brought church members under an ecclesiastical interdiction imposed by Archbishop Joseph Schrembs.

No effort was made yesterday to open the church in the east side Italian neighborhood, or install the new pastor. Parishioners worshipped in their homes.

The archbishop's decree stipulated that all members of the parish over 14 years of age must pledge in writing "unqualified submission" to civil and ecclesiastical authority before they may receive sacraments of the church.

Welles Confers With Ciano And Premier Mussolini on Conditions in War Regions

Rome—(7)—Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, conferred with Premier Mussolini today after a "long and cordial" chat in the morning with Mussolini's son-in-law and foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Welles spent an hour with the premier. The length of their conversation, as well as the hour and a quarter which the American envoy spent this morning with the foreign minister, heightened diplomatic interest in his European trip.

The meeting between the duke and Welles, here on a fact-finding mission for President Roosevelt to study conditions in war-torn Europe's principal capitals, was arranged quickly, the American having arrived in Italy only yesterday.

Welles is expected to proceed here directly to Berlin, where he will be received by Fuehrer Hitler, in a day or two. There was a possibility he would visit Pope Pius XII tomorrow although members of Welles' staff considered such a meeting unlikely now in view of the short time available to the state department's No. 2 man.

Accompanied by Envoy
Welles went to his conference with Premier Mussolini accompanied by William Phillips, the United States ambassador, and by Count Ciano's secretary, Marchese Blasco d'Aieta. The meeting was in Mussolini's office in the Palazzo Venezia.

Welles is on a trip to report back to President Roosevelt on the situation here and in London, Paris and Berlin. He made it clear upon his arrival in Italy yesterday that he would have nothing to say about his conferences.

After the Italian press yesterday virtually ignored Welles' arrival, late afternoon papers of the government-controlled press today gave prominent display to the story, stressing the "length and cordiality" of the Ciano-Welles meeting.

L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, devoted virtually its entire front page to an enthusiastic review of the relations between the Vatican and the United States, timing this with arrival here yesterday of Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's new Vatican envoy.

Promise Help in Racing News Ban

Attorneys General of 8
States to Cooperate
With U. S. Attorney

Chicago—(7)—United States District Attorney William J. Campbell announced today the attorneys general of eight states had agreed to cooperate with him in his efforts to eliminate the illegal dissemination of horse racing information.

Last week Campbell wrote to the legal departments of 20 states in which Western Union wires were still carrying racing news to scratch sheets and so called "news agencies," asking their help in getting the service cut off.

Western Union, the prosecutor said, had promised to discontinue service at all points except where injunction suits have been filed. In keeping with its promise, the company reduced its circuits from 12 to 4 on Feb. 16, but these four had drop-off points in the 20 states and the District of Columbia.

Offers of cooperation, Campbell reported, were received from attorneys general in Missouri, Ohio, Kansas, North Carolina, West Virginia, Virginia, Mississippi and Alabama.

The legal departments of Maryland, Tennessee, Georgia and Kentucky informed him they were without authority to intervene in injunction proceedings.

Replies were still awaited from Louisiana, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Iowa, South Carolina, Nebraska and Minnesota, as well as the District of Columbia.

Triple Investigation Begun in Illinois Fire

Chicago—(7)—A three-cornered investigation was underway today to determine the cause of a fire which badly damaged the Bremer township relief administration office in suburban Posen.

Russians Gain In Attempt to Take Viipuri

Capture Strategic Islands
At Western End of Mannerheim Line

SEVERE LOSSES

Observer Believes Soviet
Lost 100,000 Men
In Advance

Helsinki—(7)—The Finnish high command today acknowledged that Finland had surrendered to invading Russians the strategic islands of Koivisto, armed with great coastal batteries anchoring the western end of the Mannerheim line.

The high command's communique did not specifically mention the coastal batteries with which the Finns have dominated the western isthmus front, but military observers tonight conceded they now must be in the hands of the red army forces through the loss of the islands.

These islands, situated off the town of Koivisto, are 20 miles south of Viipuri, lying in the Gulf of Finland near the entrance to Viipuri bay.

Possession of the islands presumably would give the Russians a new advantage in their drive on Viipuri, by aiding an attack from the sea as well as from land.

Russian land forces already have driven on the isthmus itself up a railway toward Viipuri as was a Kailahti, only 7½ miles due south of Viipuri, according to the Finns' own admission. The Russians apparently are cleaning up the area between the railway and the coast.

Heavy Casualty List
"On the isthmus our troops have given up the Koivisto islands," said today's daily army communique. "On Feb. 25 the enemy continued his attacks on the western part of the isthmus. The attacks were checked by fire from our artillery and infantry, and the enemy suffered heavy loss in men."

At one town in this region, Salmenkita, "enemy attacks were repulsed after fighting which lasted a whole day," the communique stated.

At Kuumho, northward near Finland's "waist," the Finns captured a "strong point," and "destroyed" a company of Russians, said the communique.

The Finns said that their air force had carried out bombing attacks behind the Russian lines "during which a number of successful air fights were engaged in by us." Five Russian planes were reported shot down.

One foreign military observer estimates that it has cost the red Turn to page 11 col. 6

Quarrel Over Price Of Celery Leads to Stabbing of Woman

Cadillac, Mich.—(7)—Mother and son argued over the price of a bunch of celery—there was a question of 3 cents—and the quarrel ended in death for the parent from stab wounds.

After hours of questioning John F. Andreen, 24, Sheriff Charles Osterberg announced that the young man confessed to killing his mother, Mrs. John G. Andreen, 48, with a kitchen knife. The story he told, Osterberg said, was this:

Buying a weekend grocery supply, Andreen paid 8 cents for the celery. His mother, claiming he should have paid only 5 cents, became enraged and attacked him. In defending himself, Andreen seized the knife and stabbed her eight times.

Hearing on Bioff Plea

Chicago—(7)—William Bioff, one of Hollywood's leading labor leaders, won at least nine more days of freedom today when a hearing on his petition for a writ of habeas corpus was continued to March 8.

Bioff returned to Chicago last week to fight the state's attempt to make him serve a six-months sentence for pandering, imposed 15 years ago.

Attorney Harold Marovitz appeared before Chief Justice John P. Frank in the criminal court today, and said he would be unable to argue the petition because his brother and associate, State Senator Abe Marovitz, was in a hospital undergoing treatments for a broken cartilage in his knee.

Scandinavian Nations Agree
On Mutual Backing in Talks
With Belligerent Nations

Copenhagen—(7)—Scandinavian neutrals sought to avoid becoming entangled in the European war by agreeing at a weekend conference to "support each other mutually in their negotiations with belligerents."

The foreign ministers of Sweden, Denmark and Norway also expressed hope the Finnish-Soviet Russian war could be brought to a peaceful solution which preserves the full independence of Finland.

In another passage apparently aimed at Germany's submarine warfare and Great Britain's boarding of the German steamer Altmark in Norwegian waters, a communique issued last night at the close of the conference said:

"The foreign ministers agreed to raise serious objections to, and endeavor to avert violation of, the principles of international law in the conduct of naval warfare, which inflicts considerable losses of human life and of economic value on neutral states, when they maintain their shipping in order to keep up their legitimate and necessary trade."

The conferences—Dr. Peter Munch of Denmark, Halvdan Koht of Norway and Christian Gunther of Sweden—agreed to maintain the inviolability of neutral territory in accordance with the rules of international law.

The Danish newspaper Nationaltidende, in commenting on the meeting, declared:

"It may be of importance in the future that they are agreed about former lines for mutual action both after violations of neutrality... and about mutual efforts to get concessions for their trade by belligerents."

Uncensored Mail May be Delivered to Europe as Result of Decision

New York—(7)—Delivery of uncensored mail to Europe solely through air channels appears likely as a result of an announcement of Pan American Airways that its clipper planes will omit the Bermuda stop on flights to Portugal, starting March 15.

The company made no mention of British seizure and censorship of mail at Bermuda, nor of publication last week of a news story that United States mail was seized there Jan. 18 "at bayonet point."

It gave as its reasons "better weather conditions" and the fact that mid-Atlantic weather reports are being received from two coast guard vessels assigned to special duty.

The clippers thus return to their original route—direct across the Atlantic to Horta, the Azores—in interrupted last October, when they included Bermuda as a refueling stop.

Saves Five Hours
Pan American says the direct flight saves five hours.

Official air circles attached significance to the new policy permitting American mails to reach Germany without allied interference. Pan American connects at Lisbon with Italian and French air lines.

2 Congress Races
Tuesday in Ohio

Leaders of Both Parties
Express Confidence
Of Victory

Columbus, Ohio—(7)—Predictions of victory from both sides and a request for election observers produced special congressional elections tomorrow in two Ohio districts.

In the Seventeenth district, where Democratic leaders have declared that a vote for the party nominee, Byron B. Ashbrook, was a vote for the New Deal, Ashbrook was expected to "roll up a majority of four or five thousand."

His opponent, J. Harry McGregor, was viewed as a winner by Republican State Chairman Ed D. Schorr, who said the election would stimulate Republican morale throughout the nation.

Ashbrook and McGregor are seeking the post left vacant by the death of Ashbrook's uncle, William A. Ashbrook, Democrat.

In the Twenty-second district, Mrs. Francis P. Bolton, Republican, seeks to succeed her husband, the late Chester C. Bolton, and become Ohio's first congresswoman. Running in a popular district normally Republican she is opposed by former Representative Anthony A. Fieger, Democrat, who is supported by several old age pension groups.

Ashbrook who asked Secretary of State Earl Griffith to place "watchers" in each of the six county election board offices in the Seventeenth district to guard against manipulation of vote counting.

Fireman Killed, Score Injured or Overcome

Detroit—(7)—One fireman was killed and a score of others were injured or overcome in a spectacular blaze which destroyed a business block yesterday at an estimated loss of $20,000.

Fireman Joseph Schneider, 32, was killed in a floor cave-in. Firemen poured tons of water on the blaze for six hours after rescuing more than a dozen apartment dwellers living above business establishments at Michigan and Laverne avenues.

The two-story business block was valued at about $100,000.

Dies 6 Months After "Frozen Sleep" for Treatment of Cancer

Springfield, Ill.—(7)—Six months after he submitted to a five-day "frozen sleep" for treatment of cancer, Jack Lum, 53-year-old restaurateur, died today.

Lum had been given "a few weeks" to live before he underwent the treatment in a bathtub packed with ice last August. Following the hibernation, Doctors Alex Jones and James Graham reported "highly beneficial" results. Development of the cancer was retarded, they said, and a systolic heart murmur reduced.

The Chinese patient went back to work after the five-day treatment in which his body temperature was kept at between 84 and 85 degrees Fahrenheit. Recently his strength failed and he was taken back to a hospital. A blood transfusion had little effect in retarding his decline.

Lum told friends recently he planned to return to China.

Bondel Girl Killed

Shawano—(7)—Gladys Summich, 12-year-old pupil at the Bondel Lutheran school, was killed in a coasting accident on a farm near here yesterday. She suffered a broken neck when her sled struck a tree.

Wallace Says Next Year's Total Will be Reduced

Washington—(7)—The house appropriations committee granted an additional $60,000,000 for farm benefit payments today in approving a $90,069,139 deficiency supply bill.

At the same time, however, the committee cut presidential estimates for the measure by $4,020,704, bringing the total congressional cuts off President Roosevelt's requests to $274,000,000 for this legislative session. The bill contained funds to meet unexpected current requirements of various government agencies until July 1.

In asking for $60,000,000 now, Secretary Wallace had proposed that next year's fund for farm benefits be reduced the same amount.

The total in the deficiency bill included $90,000 for the pay of 45 secret service agents and five clerks to guard the president and his family "in view of the conditions in this country arising as a result of the wars in Europe."

Major Reductions
Principal cuts were $1,000,000 each from a proposed $3,000,000 fund for insect control, from $8,000,000 asked for Grand Coulee dam, Washington and Oregon, and from $60,000,000 asked for the Central Valley project, California.

The committee also slashed $500,000 off a war department request for "urgent" work at the San Diego, Calif., harbor.

In the cases of both Grand Coulee and Central Valley, the committee said it believed the sums it allowed were sufficient to carry forward construction work until new appropriations become available after July 1. The committee also asserted that the $1,500,000 allowed for San Diego would take care of "the essential part of the work necessary to be expedited."

As for the insect control cut, the committee declared that "the largest part of the sum" was for combating grasshoppers with "no pretense of claim on the part of the department of agriculture of feasibility of complete eradication."

Fund for Census
Despite previous floor attacks by several Republicans on the 1940 census of housing, the committee allowed almost the full sum asked for that enumeration. The amount approved was $5,000,000, or $125,000 less than had been requested.

Among the larger items in the bill were $1,017,000 to the bureau of reclamation for the Rio Grande project, New Mexico and Texas; and $1,000,000 to the same bureau for the Boulder canyon project.

A civil service commission, which reported a heavy backlog of ungraded examination papers, was granted $225,000, representing a $200,000 cut from the president's request.

At one point, the committee took the federal bureau of investigation to task for fitting its Quantico, Va., firing range barracks with facilities "considerably more commodious and more elaborate than the committee had anticipated." It thereupon turned down a request for $135,000 to complete the barracks and firing range projects.

Farm bloc advocates of parity payments took new heart at the action of the appropriations committee in approving $60,000,000 for farm benefit payments.

Actually the $60,000,000 represented an advance provided for in a deficiency appropriation measure.

Player May Get Jitters In Slam Bid

BY ELY CULBERTSON

There is something about slam contracts that seems to have an unnerving effect on certain players, just as they were perched not too securely at a dizzy height. I have seen players who can and do "play the spots off" mere game contracts suffer what amounts to funk when they are called upon to play for a slam that is not a laydown. Surely nothing but funk could account for the failure of the declarer in today's hand to make his contract.

The bidding:
East South West North
1 heart Pass 2 diamonds 2 spades
2 no trump Pass 4 hearts Pass
4 no trump Pass 5 diamonds Pass
5 hearts Pass 6 hearts Pass

The hand was well bid. West was correct in taking out the spade double. For hearts, since the opponents were not vulnerable.

South opened his top spade and North's ten was won by declarer's ace. The ace of hearts was laid down and the fact disclosed that North was void, which seemed to frighten the declarer to death. At any rate, his succeeding play was very bad. Instead of embarking on the establishment of West's diamond suit, declarer promptly laid down the king of spades and then led a low one for a ruff in dummy. But South was wide awake and ruffed with his seven of hearts, forcing dummy's Queen. Too late, declarer now saw he would not be able to ruff the last spade since South would overruff dummy if he were to try it. In desperation therefore he drew the adverse trumps and tried the one remaining chance of laying down the king of diamonds and then finessing against the queen (obviously he could not afford to lead the king and ace and then ruff a third round of diamonds, since in that case North would win the first club lead and cash a good spade). The diamond finesse losing to North, the contract went down two as the club ace and spade queen were cashed.

Considering the fact that North had strongly indicated at least a five card spade suit by his bidding, the declarer's line of play was abysmally foolish. The moment the adverse trumps were found to be in all in one hand, the declarer should have realized that the one chance for success lay in the establishment of dummy's diamonds rather than in the ruff of losing spades. Obviously, with the 3-3 diamond break, the proper line of play, namely, the immediate lead of two rounds of diamonds and ruff of the third round, would have made the contract a laydown.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

This young beauty scrutinizes her skin in the broad daylight with the aid of a stunning pouch compact mirror.

None of us cares to be criticized by a friend, especially if the criticism pricks our physical vanity. You know how you react when a candid friend remarks, "Gracious Helen, you certainly have put on weight!" Oh, "Why don't you go to my hairdresser, your hair looks terrible!" I feel sure he could do something with it!

But sometimes we need a job at our vanity—it serves to make us take a good long look in a mirror to see ourselves as others see us! And one long look in a mirror usually convinces us that we have been negligent too long.

In The Looking Glass

Your mirror can be your most candid friend without speaking a single cutting remark. If you will stand before it in a good light it will point out just where renovating should be done! Winter clothes have hidden the bulges and hollows and now that Spring is knocking at your door, you will have to do a little streamlining.

Let me caution you not to lose weight too rapidly through starvation. Your body needs a certain amount of food fuel each day to take you on your round of duties. See that it gets sufficient food so your strength will not be taxed. What good is a streamlined figure if you have no strength to go out and enjoy life and incidentally show off your pleasing proportions? You should lose weight slowly, through sane dieting and definite corrective exercises done daily. So allow time for the streamlining!

Look Long at Your Face

Sit down before your mirror and do a little acting. Speak to yourself, smile, laugh heartily, frown, concentrate. Study your face as you act and don't be alarmed if you detect some rather unattractive poses. But make note of them, and take them the next day to correct them before your mirror, so it can tell you whether your expressions are as attractive as they might be.

How about your hair-do? Have you been wearing the same style for the past umpty-um years? What condition is it in? Are the temples thinning, is it dry and is it fading? Determine to recondition it.

A magnifying glass in your hand, or propped up against a window pane is the most candid proof of all. But don't start squeezing out pimples and blackheads! Use the magnifying glass solely to determine whether your skin needs a pore treatment, a lubrication, or a thorough scrubbing. Then supply yourself with the necessary aids. Eyebrow stragglers and superfluous hair over the lip will be so magnified that you will take tweezers in hand immediately.

Social Clubs are Useful if Guided by Experienced Adult

BY ANGELO PATRI

Along about the age of twelve boys and girls feel a strong compulsion to get into groups—boys by themselves, girls by themselves. They have no definite plan to work out together. They want to be in the crowd, talk over their troubles and their hopes, and have a good time. This good time idea is vague, but it is powerful. Each child has in him something that wants to be expressed in action. The doing of it is what the child knows as a good time.

Some children want to talk, just talk—getting together and talking is their way of having a good time. They plan big doings, discuss school and home problems, but after the ideas are talked out nothing more comes of them.

There are other groups who add something more to the scheme. Maybe they take nature walks, or put on a show for charity, or organize an entertainment, where the leaders can shine. The main thing always is to get together and have a good time. A perfectly harmless healthy idea that is a normal phase of their growth.

There are some little difficulties that arise in these clubs. Sometimes undesirable children enter them. By undesirable one means undesirable characters. One misguided child, one wrongly headed, is a threat to the group. For that reason a grown-up person should be in the position of advisor. No advisor, no club.

Children dislike the idea of the advisor very much. The very idea of the social club is the getting-together, away from adults. That, too, is essential, but the advisor must be in the background, alert to detect any tendency to wrong doing. It may not be sinful but it may be unwise schemes that are afoot and the trusted advisor can put in the right suggestion at the right time.

A group of twelve year old girls have a social club. They think it would be a fine idea to spend a day at a nearby beach resort. Fine. But the advisor must go along, maybe two of them. It is impossible to tell children all the reasons for this. They accept the situation and go under the wing of the advisor or they stay at home. If the advisor is fit for the position, the children soon learn to appreciate her.

When boys decide to build a hut, or a group of huts, and spend weeks in them, they ought to be encouraged provided that there is a man who understands what it is all about is along with them. He can show them how to build, and what;

how to cook and what to cook; how to live in the open with pleasure. His experience can save them from many a mistake. One group of boys spread their meal out and sit on poison ivy to eat it. Had an advisor been along they could have been spared much woe.

Social clubs can be a great asset or a fearful liability. They ought to be encouraged, but they must be under the wisest kind of supervision.

Is your child inclined to quarrel with other children? And blame everybody but himself when things go wrong? Angelo Patri's sympathetic advice will help you to help him, in this and many other ways. Send for his booklet, "Your Child and Other People," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care this newspaper, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Women lose respect for men who do not earn money, for they look upon wage-earning as almost as typical of the virile male as broad shoulders, or whiskers on his chin. Women have more admiration for a man who may earn only $10 per week energetically doing odd jobs, than for the skilled worker who passively waits at home for some employment agency to steer him into a high salaried position.

CASE P-191: Hal K., aged 27, has been married for three years.

"I'm so worried about Hal," his energetic wife announced, as she sat down in my office.

"He has been out of work for the past six months. Fortunately, I have a good secretarial position, so I have been able to pay the rent and grocery bill.

"But he seems listless and defeated. Oh, he went around to the various employment agencies, and still visits them occasionally, but he doesn't seem to care much what happens.

"Furthermore, he has no particular training for any special kind of work, nor does he have any decided fondness for anything. We could borrow money for him to go to school if he knew what he wanted, but he doesn't know."

"Dr. Crane, I can't go on forever being the breadwinner of the family. A girl doesn't mind working for her man if he is studying for future success. She considers her efforts a good investment in such a situation. But when her man has no goal in life, she resents his sissy behavior."

DIAGNOSIS:

John Erskine in a radio broadcast recently expressed surprise that so few men in his own experience had any plans for their future.

The average person looks hardly beyond the next Saturday's paycheck or at least the summer vacation.

This is typically a childish reaction, for youngsters also live in the present or at least don't think beyond their nearest school holiday. Animals likewise live in the present.

ent. Even the squirrel's hiding away of nuts is an instinctive reaction; not an evidence of his intelligent foresight.

What's Your Destination?

If a resourceful young man cannot find a restaurant in his vicinity at meal time, he will not go hungry, for he'll buy the "makings," such as bread, cheese or bologna, and manufacture his own meal.

The same type of resourceful male will also refuse to give up in despair just because an employment agency cannot offer him a good position.

Instead, he will make himself a job, even if he must wash windows, mow lawns, simulate automobiles, mend furnaces, glue wobbly furniture together, or peddle brushes or vanilla and lemon extract from door to door.

It makes little difference where you start in the economic world, for you'll reach the top if you have the brains, ambition, perseverance and intelligent foresight typical of all "big shots."

Remember, moreover, that success is never a 50-yard dash but a marathon race. And every race must have a previously selected goal. You cannot hope to win unless you run toward the proper destination. Even the average college man today, however, doesn't know his approximate destination.

It isn't essential at that age, though, that you select the specific profession or business which you wish to make your life goal. Nor do you have to forego all the social life and pleasures of the world.

Enjoy life moderately as you drift through it, but be sure you drift forward. Don't let yourself get caught up in an eddy wherein you swirl around in a circle.

Take inventory of yourself every six months. Have you acquired any new talents or habits meanwhile which warrant your receiving a salary increase? Wage increases should not be awarded just because you have spent additional years on the job, but because you have acquired some additional merits which actually make you more valuable to your employer or to society in general.

And learn how to write a good letter of application for a job. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope with a dime for printing costs if you wish my specimen LETTER OF APPLICATION which pulls a phenomenal response.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Dix Says 'Personality Girl Has Arrived to Torment Us'

BY DOROTHY DIX

It's for crying out loud! It does seem as if what with the war, and the depression and all, we have about all the trouble we can stand, but another affliction is lying in wait for us. Just as we thought that the Glamour Girl and the Oomph Girl had gone the way of all flesh and that life was going to be worth living once more, the Personality Girl has arrived to torment us. Great grief!

Heaven knows that the Glamour Girl and the Oomph Girl have been hard enough to stand, and we have felt that we were punished for our sins beyond our deserts in not being able to open a newspaper or a magazine without being confronted with their deadpan pictures, and a detailed account of their clothes, and their dogs, and the night clubs they went to, and the men they were going to marry. But these sufferings were as nothing compared to what we are going to have to endure from the Personality Girl.

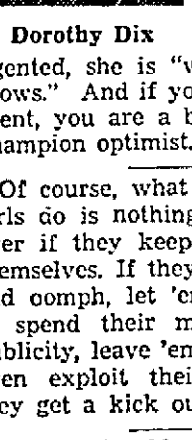

For, according to the way she is being presented, she is "vivacious and impetuous and temperamental and she glows." And if you don't tremble in fear and horror at that announcement, you are a better man than I am, Gunga Din, and the world's champion optimist.

Of course, what a few silly rich girls do is nothing to get panicky over if they keep their crimes to themselves. If they want to glamor and oomph, let 'em. If they want to spend their money in buying publicity, leave 'em do it. Let them even exploit their personality if they get a kick out of doing it.

But the trouble is that their example is as contagious as the measles, and so the millions of girls who have spent the last three years trying to look glamorous and seductive and mysterious are now going to go into action and do things which will make our hair stand on end.

All the nice, quiet little girls we know will suddenly turn vivacious and begin to shriek at the top of their voices and jump around like monkeys on a stick. We will have impetuous young maidens smashing up bars, getting drunk and eloping on the spur of the moment with bouncers they have only known five minutes, and pulling off crazy stunts that it will bankrupt their fathers trying to hush up.

Our temperamental daughters will be even more faddy and patronizing and unpleasant to live with than they are now, and when we think of a whole nation of girls trying to glow, we can only throw up our hands in despair and cry: God help us! We needn't think we will escape the personality racket. We will not. The American girl is these people. If you play an excellent game, they may be willing to carry you—that is, divide your winnings or your losses—which seems to me a blindfolding of principles! I really think the only answer is to see your friends otherwise than at card-playing times. Unless—let us say—you have not the slightest fear of acquiring a taste for risk, and might perhaps look closely at your principles to see whether they have roots or whether they are no more than prejudice.

There is no rudeness in refusing either alcohol or food unless your manner of saying "No thank you" is disapproving or impolite.

How To Let People Pass In A Theatre

Dear Mrs. Post: If you are seated in a theatre, should you rise to let others pass, or let them crowd by you?

Answer: When there is no room in front of you and people are sitting on either side of you, it is necessary to stand. If there is a vacant seat next to you, you can usually put your toes ballet-fashion under your seat and by twisting your knees toward the vacant seat make plenty of room.

The Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: Is any color ever added to the wedding cake that decorates the bridal table at the wedding reception?

Answer: No, not unless you call the dark clothes of the groom-doll color.

Youth Drives Bus and Resumes His Schooling

Salem, Va.—Fred Scott, a strapping youth who quit school when he was in the sixth grade, got a job three years ago driving a Roanoke county school bus. He had to wait for his young passengers to get out of class, so he decided to go to school with them.

He's studying hard, and finds he learns more easily than he did as a boy. His favorite subjects are civics and science.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested treatments.

THE $32,000,000 "DEBT"

The state highway commission of Wisconsin the other day published its annual financial statement. So once more we find that the grand total of unauthorized diversions of the gasoline tax and motor license fee receipts has increased. During the last year, 1939, the state highway commission collected more than $4,000,000 in excess of disbursements, and today the total of receipts over expenses since 1933 reaches almost $26,000,000, and the end is not in sight.

That tremendous total of taxes is not in the treasury. It was spent. It was collected for one purpose, spent for many others entirely unrelated to that purpose. It was spent to pay salaries of state employees scattered through the growing state capital and the rest of the state. It was spent for relief, pensions, and other welfare activities, although the motorist, for all that he knows from the state gasoline tax laws and the speeches of politicians, believes that all of his contributions go for highways.

Today we have Governor Heil with plans to "divert" another $6,000,000 during the next two years. In state politics nowadays, the word "divert" is pleasantly regarded as synonymous with "borrow." The idea is, we gather, that the sum total of "diversions" will remain on the highway commission's books as a credit, to be paid back by the general state treasury in some millenium not yet discernible.

So in a six year period, the highway taxpayers will have contributed about $32,000,000 toward the maintenance of the state government, and we ask, how long is this to go on?

How long will it be before a state legislature and a governor have the courage to admit that the gasoline taxpayer is paying more for the support of state institutions and state activities than the income taxpayer?

How long will it be before a political party in control of the state government will have the honesty to correct a system which dictates that the gasoline tax, scaled according to the number of miles traveled by the owner of a car, shall bring in more than $5,000,000 a year for the state general fund while the income tax, based on ability to pay, produces only about $4,000,000 a year for that fund?

How long will it be before the sanctimonious gentlemen in all political parties who write the party platforms will note the glaring, shameful disparity between those pious effusions and the record of their representatives in office, on this issue at least?

The effect of the present state policy—and the blame is to be fixed on the politicians of the several creeds in Wisconsin—is to push the burden of balancing the state budget which no one has the ability or the political stamina, apparently, to balance by orthodox means on the backs of the motorist.

Every fall the gentlemen who run for office under their respective party labels and effulgent platforms promise lower taxes for the farmer. But more than half of the automobiles registered in Wisconsin belong to the farmers, who therefore pay half of the sum diverted from highway taxes to finance a budget which the legislature found unable to balance either by reductions or just, general taxation.

The theory and the justification for the heavy state gasoline tax, and the inordinately high motor registration fees, was the raising of public money for the construction and maintenance of a modern highway system. When the state government conveniently overlooks that fact, and use those funds for other ends, it is not only breaking faith, but it is endorsing an untenable principle by assenting to the owners of automobiles for the support of public institutions which the owners of taxis, horses, motor boats and airplanes also enjoy and ought to pay for.

The total of $31,674,348 which the motorists of Wisconsin have paid to the state highway commission in the last six years, and which politicians have appropriated to other uses, stands as a monument to insincerity and faint hearts, for which there ought to be no place in Wisconsin politics. Some day soon, we hope, that monument may be taken down and its cause eliminated.

A RUSSIAN PROBLEM OF OUR OWN

All is quiet, calm, serene. Nothing mars the peaceful scene. Stack the empties in the sink. Ileana's in the clink. Now the clamor's evanescent; Not squads can get some rest. Now the uproar can subside; Ileana's roped and tied.

Thus sang Ethel Jacobson in the Los Angeles Examiner, concerning one Laurel's light o' love which we cannot concede to be a mere local problem to California.

Daily divorces in the film colony, a habit which has spread to the most illustrious names in the country, may be no one's particular business but when they take fellows like Hardy and Laurel for a dizzy ride and smash their faith and illusions they are jeopardizing our little store of good humor in this country which is more important than that gold we have glutted in the Kentucky hills.

Good humor is nearly as essential to the race as good air. When we stop laughing at our own foibles and foolishness a stark tragedy will have begun. The Mark Twains and Bill Nyes of our father's generation now speak to us from the silver screen. And we want none of our clowns weeping.

That is why something will have to be done to protect fellows like Laurel. Why should we create organizations to meet budding starlets at the train lest they be led astray by designing villains who wear oiled mustachios but do nothing for the sweet innocence of a fellow like Laurel? A country that spends a fortune annually to save dogs and cows from cruelty is blind to the mad attacks of wild women upon trusting and defenseless actors. The result is found in the confiding actions of this young man called Laurel who threw himself into the open arms of Ileana, the shapely Amazon from the Volga. It is true that his friends rescued him from the web of intrigue she wove around him and paid the damocles 6500 smackers to release her future claims so the comedian could go back to tripping over one foot as the galleries screamed. And just in time was Laurel saved, too. Hear the evidence of the inspired Los Angeles reporter who wrote up one of Ileana's evenings:

"This is the itinerary of Ileana's latest journey to the clink; along about 2:00 a. m. Ileana and Vera, her drinking companion, after touring other night spots, had run up a $7.00 bill for strong drinks at the Jane Jones Little Club on Sunset Boulevard. Bartender Herman suggested that the ladies pay. 'Nutsky' or words to that effect, said Ileana. 'Comes the revolution and I'll have the strawberries and cream and you'll have the hives.' The bartender snatched Ileana's fur coat for security. The ladies called a cab. 'Where to?' asked the driver James L. Ring.

Ring figured it out. He drove around until the meter figured $12.50 and then deposited them at the sheriff's Fairfax sub-station.

"I want the Commissar," screamed Ileana. But she got a ride in the Black Maria.

The gals were chanting the Vodka boat song when the patrol wagon drew up at the jail.

"Ah, cried Ileana. 'The Krem-lin! home again.'"

Something should be done to a country that allows such dangerous females to roam at large, casting their wiles and artifices at the gay, innocent and laughing youth of the land?

We don't know just exactly what to propose but the masculinity in this country assuredly needs some sort of protection and isn't getting it. And to show that Laurel is no exception look at John the Barrymore.

EUROPEAN POSSESSIONS AT OUR DOORSTEP

Probably few suggestions received a colder reception from the American people than that the time was ripe to ask Britain and France to turn over to this country their possessions in the West Indies in liquidation of their debts from World War No. 1.

The suggestion itself is a good one but this is a wretched time to make it. There is something more than craven in waiting until these countries have their backs to the wall in order to press our demands upon them. Did we pursue such a policy we would qualify ourselves for full admission into the Brotherhood of European Cut-throats. And yet as we turn away from that suggestion with a blush at the very thought of such a cowardly maneuver we should not forget that we surprise all Europe with our attitude.

Europe believes that the time to strike is when someone in the family is sick. When the doctor calls at the next house or an ambulance stops at the door it is like a stroke of fortune. Every nation with the exception of some of the democracies—but not all of them by any means—has taken advantage of its neighbor's distress to swoop down upon her and grab. And the neighbor has bided its time for another turn of the wheel of fortune.

But France and Britain owe us many honest billions, money our people paid out to finance their wars. They took all the loot they could gather up from the defeated and let us whistle. They are prone to tell us they cannot gather together enough American exchange to make their payments but when someone mentions the fact that they have other property that would be suitable to wipe out the debt they speak about the lovely August sunsets.

Why talk about extending the Monroe Doctrine to Iceland when there are scores of islands that could be used as readily as a base of supplies, located three thousand miles nearer Panama?

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Those who sit down with Franklin Roosevelt on Sunday afternoons or at other times when he is really, in a relaxing mood, have seen a distinct change in him recently regarding a third term.

Around Christmas time, and even through most of January it was their distinct impression that the president was anxious, even determined to retire from the White House when his term expires in January, 1941.

To one of his cabinet members, Roosevelt in effect remarked:

"This job is getting to be just the same thing over and over again. I send up a message to congress. I prepare a new budget. Just the same old routine. I'm bored and I want to get out."

To another close friend who is mayor of an important city, the president said:

"I feel like a baseball pitcher who's been in the box for eight innings. I'm tired and I need a rest."

To several other friends and visitors, Roosevelt spoke at some length about the need of building up new leaders within the Democratic party. With several he definitely discussed the advisability of nominating Cordell Hull. To one friend who urged the president to run again, he remarked: "There are plenty of men in the country who can take my place."

ROOSEVELT CHANGES

All this, however, was prior to about the middle of January or the first of February. Since then there has been a change.

The change is a little hard to put your finger on. Actually, the president isn't saying a word to the effect that he is a candidate, even to his close advisers. But, on the other hand, he is no longer saying that he is tired and wants to get out. He just isn't saying anything.

But he is doing a lot of things. And this is what convinces some of the best friends Roosevelt has, that he has now decided to run for a third term.

For behind the scenes, the president has been familiar with, if he has not actually directed, every move made to put delegates in state primaries favorable to his candidacy. He put his hand abruptly into the Louisiana situation, was delighted with the opportunity to line up delegates in New Hampshire, gave his blessing to the plan by which Ambassador Joe Kennedy would corral delegates in Massachusetts—later to be turned over to him. (Strategy which was spied when Jim Farley got the jump on Kennedy and filed in Massachusetts first.)

BIG BOSSES BOOST

One factor which unquestionably had a lot to do with the change in Roosevelt is the report which state democratic bosses have been bringing him.

New Deal idealism is the complete antithesis of all that Boss Ed Kelley of Chicago and Boss Hague of New Jersey stand for. Yet they, and dozens of others who control local machines, are determined that Roosevelt shall run—and for only one reason: they are out to win.

The average state boss makes politics a business. To stay in business, he has to keep his men in office. He has to win. Usually he doesn't care a snap of his fingers about liberalism or conservatism or any other ideal connected with his party's national ticket, except only that it be able to draw votes. For sometimes it takes a bang-up presidential candidate on the national ticket to put across the local ticket.

And what Mayor Hague and Mayor Kelley are figuring on is that they can win locally if Roosevelt is on their ticket nationally.

So if the big bosses whose income taxes have been probed by Roosevelt's internal revenue and whose gambling friends have been hounded by Roosevelt's justice department—if after all this punishment, they still want Roosevelt, then it must be because he is the man who can win for the Democratic party.

NO ROOSEVELT ANNOUNCEMENT

You can write it down in the book that Roosevelt will make no announcement regarding a third term, probably not even five minutes before the Democratic National convention opens July 15.

He will remain in Hyde Park and get the reaction of the convention over the telephone. And probably only after the question of his candidacy has gone to the floor of the convention will he indicate his willingness or unwillingness to run for a third term. And those closest to him these days are betting their money that his answer will be "Yes."

FANNY AND HOTTENTOTS

John L. Lewis got an unexpected kickback from his rip-snorting assertion that Madame Secretary Perkins knew as much about labor problems "as a Hottentot knows about the moral code."

Two weeks after the convention he received a letter from a foreign missionary reading as follows:

"Dear Mr. Lewis: I cannot let the insult you hurled at the Hottentots pass unchallenged. I have lived and worked among these people for many years and have found on the whole that they have a much higher respect for the moral code than people who live in so-called civilized nations."

"If what you say about Miss Perkins is true, then she must be a very excellent public servant. I commend her."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Harry Hopkins is planning to speak in Tampa, Florida, next month. This will be his first public appearance in many months. . . . Cost of the new stark-white modernistic Venezuelan embassy in Washington was $250,000. . . . A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Smart political critics of President Roosevelt agree he would be unwise to declare himself out of the race at this point.

Needless to say, his friends can think of even more cogent reasons for his keeping quiet.

To declare himself out of the presidential race would mean:

1. He would weaken his influence in congress.

2. He would weaken his control over the Democratic convention.

3. He would weaken his influence in foreign affairs.

This last is looked upon as most important. For a President to declare himself already a "has been" at a crucial international period would be to invite light treatment at the hands of foreign nations.

On the other hand, if he has made up his mind to run for a third term a declaration to that effect while congress is in session would stir up all the old animosities that were so bitter in 1938. It would be especially painful in congress. As an advance sample, Senator Smith of South Carolina already has declared that if F.D.R. comes up for a third term he will walk out of the convention.

The ones who are whooping it up for the President to take himself out of the race or to put him-self wholly in, are, for the most part, persons who would benefit from one or the other of such moves.

Democratic candidates would like to have the doubt cleared up. Then they could go into the primaries with a clear declaration that "I'm for me." Now they go in with an explanation that "I'm for Roosevelt if he wants to run, after that I'm for me. . . ."

As for the Republicans, they probably would gain most from a frank declaration of the President that he is seeking a third term—unless you believe, as some do, that such a declaration would mean another 1936. The cries of "dictator" which the Republicans have aimed at the White House for years past would become a nationwide chorus.

Representative Dies of Texas has become his own most sincere convert to the righteousness of his Red-and-Fascist hunt. Anyone with half an eye could tell, when Dies first took over the investigation two years ago, he was less than half serious. He expected to demagogue.

He still does. But he has dug into the business enough to more than half convince himself he is saving the nation from a fate worse than death.

Incidentally, his first press conference on his recent return from Texas was half as big as the President's and twice as long. Moreover, his diggings in the political and financial underworld are drawing crowds and press attention.

And don't forget that:

Thirty-eight freshmen Republican House members meet every Wednesday night for dinner at the Army-Navy club where speakers—principally New Deal executives—lecture them on how the government is run. But the speakers have to endure an hour of questioning. . . . Because it is an election year congress will send out $1,000,000 of free mail compared to the usual $750,000. . . . Rep. Woodrum of Virginia, big gun on the House appropriations committee, shows up to work sometimes as early as 7:30 a. m. after a brisk walk along Pennsylvania avenue. . . . Brightest line of the week: Senator Connally of Texas, reporting how the senate foreign relations committee had given a question—"We fired a few blanks and fall back."

HEIL UPSTAIRS?

Reports current six months ago that Republican moguls are trying to persuade Heil to become a senate candidate, and to leave the governorship for someone else, are again numerous.

Such a development, observers will be quick to recognize, would open the way for Robert K. Henry.

This correspondent's hunch is that while Heil would rather be governor than senator, the suggestions may be more timely now than half a year ago because of the evidence of distress with his present position displayed. Recently he told a companion that the best way to learn how many "shylocks" there are in politics is to be elected governor.

GEHRMAN TROUBLE

Congressman B. J. Gehrmann of the Tenth district may run into opposition in his own primary this year, while at least one Republican of prominence in that district is confident that he can trim the Progressive incumbent in that arch-Progressive district.

ECONOMY NOTE

A little noticed story in the capital recently concerned the state emergency board's action in cutting the state industrial commission budget. While all, or nearly all, state capital department budgets have been cut, the industrial commission cut is significant because it is the first time in many years that the department hasn't got almost exactly what it wanted.

Under Chairman Voyta Wabnitz, the commission has become the strongest in the capitol, from the standpoint of legislative appropriations, because both the powerful labor organizations and the influential industrialists regularly go to bat for it when it wants money or new functions.

RECITATION

Columbus, O.—(4)—Reciting verbatim and without pause the Constitution of the United States, 69-year-old Mrs. Darinka Barach, almost totally deaf, was one of 190 persons constituting the largest class to be granted citizenship papers in the history of the federal court here. Mrs. Barach, a Serbian immigrant in 1904, was taught reading and writing by her husband, who died last fall.

SHOW HOPE OF PEACE

Locarno, Switzerland—(3)—Red lanterns hang from the chimneys of farm houses and villages in Italian Switzerland. They'll stay there until Europe's war is over. The Italian Swiss, ardent Catholics, began the custom centuries ago. Whenever war raged in Christian countries they hung red lanterns from their rooftops to remind themselves and passer-by to pray for peace in the world.

The lanterns hung in place from 1914 to 1918. Some of them were hung again during the Spanish war. In September, 1938, they were lighted and attached to the chimney poles again.

Favorite place for the lanterns is on the village church spires, but many a simple peasant and villager keeps his own lantern burning.

The German language is spoken by a majority of the people in 16 of the 22 cantons in Switzerland.

WHY DON'T YOU JUST LET GO?

REC-MANNING

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Did anybody notice that Governor Heil has not yet received a second on his motion for repeal of the Wisconsin oleo tax?

Not a single Republican of any standing in the party has yet sided with the governor's advocacy of the oleo levy. When they talk of it, they talk in whispers. It isn't safe politics.

The governor can advocate repeal from now until the end of his term, and he will find precious few politicians willing to be on the same side of that issue with him.

DRAFT OAKLEY

In the western part of the state lives a man with a yearning for public service. It developed this week, Henry C. Oakley of Oconto is a candidate for public office—he doesn't specify which one—but his campaign circulars making the rounds in G. O. P. party circles this week proclaim that "Wisconsin needs a man like Henry C. Oakley."

A lawyer, a former village president, state commander, and national vice commander of the American Legion, "Henry C. Oakley's career is an inspiration to the youth of Wisconsin and a revelation to the older citizens," his cards say.

(Note: Western Wisconsin politicians report that Mr. Oakley, although his friends insist he will become governor next year, probably will compromise by running for the legislature.)

Heil upstairs? Reports current six months ago that Republican moguls are trying to persuade Heil to become a senate candidate, and to leave the governorship for someone else, are again numerous.

Such a development, observers will be quick to recognize, would open the way for Robert K. Henry.

This correspondent's hunch is that while Heil would rather be governor than senator, the suggestions may be more timely now than half a year ago because of the evidence of distress with his present position displayed. And that reminds me. I have a monograph on "The Silvery Scale Disease"—it deals with psoriasis. For copy send stamped envelope bearing your address.

Finally a Colorado girl is not surprised and not astonished by what wonders whether the vitamin A she has taken (100,000 international units of vitamin A natural) daily for a year or more for hyperthyroidism (exophthalmic goiter) has anything to do with the remarkable improvement in the condition of her skin— for the first time in years it is free from irritation and goes off like pimples that made it resemble a nutmeg grater in places. All I know is that some such state of the skin is a common manifestation of vitamin A deficiency.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

I drink a lot of strong tea. Is it harmful? I have a bad taste in my mouth and sour stomach in the mornings.

Ans. — A cup or two of tea daily is generally not harmful to adults. I wish you could see the tremendous difference between the geraniums and fuchsias my mother has grown and specimens of the same plants I have grown. Mother's have beautiful blossoms and seem to grow like mad. Mine look sick. Mother regularly watered her plants with a solution of vitamin B1, if you please! (Mrs. W. D. L.)

Ans. — Mother is right up to snuff. Horticulturists and amateur plant growers have been treating their seedlings and cuttings with B1 solution and achieving extraordinary success for quite a while now.

What Do You Call It? How does one go about procuring a copy of a book you wrote about what do you call it—the common cold, etc. (Mrs. P. W.)

Ans. — Send twenty-five cent coin and 1-cent stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for copy of "Call it Cili."

Jace Directors in Business Meeting Here; 80 Present

Plans for State Bowling Tourney, Convention Are Outlined

Plans for their state bowling tournament next month at Manitowoc and their state convention in May at Janesville were outlined by directors of the Wisconsin Junior Chamber of Commerce at a mid-winter meeting in the Conway hotel yesterday.

Presidents of 23 of the 31 Jace chapters in the state, state directors, and members were present, the attendance estimated at about 80.

Walter Y. Brooks, Milwaukee, state president, presided at the conference, which opened at 10:30 in the morning following a breakfast meeting of the executive committee.

H. L. Davis, Jr., Appleton president, welcomed the representatives.

The morning's discussion centered on the establishment of a Jace bowling association to govern annual tournaments. By-laws were submitted by Kenneth Healy of Manitowoc, a member of the chapter that will sponsor the state Jace bowling tourney March 23-24 and 30-31. A committee will report on the proposal of the state convention.

The program of the state convention to be held in Janesville May 17-19 was outlined at the afternoon session by Dr. F. M. Frechette of that city, general chairman. He reported that efforts are being made to engage Governor Harold M. Stassen of Minnesota, winner of the 1939 national Junior Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award, as the speaker.

Sheboygan entered a bid for the 1941 convention and Waukesha for the 1940 state picnic and golf tournament.

Boughton Is Speaker

Fred Boughton, Appleton, state vice president, spoke on National Junior Chamber of Commerce week and as chairman of the state heros award committee reported developments in that program. Dale Fox, Appleton, gave a report on "City Beautification" and Harold Stout, Appleton, described plans for the "Fox River Valley Paper Marti Gras" which will be held in Appleton the first week of July.

Phil Bigley, LaCrosse president and state chairman of the national convention committee, gave the "On To Washington" committee report.

Harold Kleissig, Antigo, discussed coordination of tourist bureaus in the state. George Haismaier, Racine, state vice president, talked on state committee structure. Don Healy, Antigo, reported an Christmas activities and Chub Finn, Oshkosh, past state president, on the "Badger Bucks" organization.

It was reported that Hayward is ready to join the state and national Jace organization and that similar movements have been started in Delavan, Sturgeon Bay, Clintonville, and Marshfield.

Lloyd Wendt, Antigo, was named the third national director from Wisconsin to serve until the Janesville convention.

Monoxide Fatal To Appleton Man

Body of William L. Matthiae, 714½ W. Lorain Street, Found in Garage

William L. Matthiae, 39, 714½ W. Lorain street, was found dead in his garage about 10:15 Saturday night. Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, Outagamie county coroner, said death was the result of carbon monoxide poisoning.

District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr, who investigated with Dr. Ellsworth, said Eleanor Krueger, a step-daughter, found the body in the car. The motor was running and the garage doors were shut. Fire department members were called but failed to revive Matthiae with artificial respiration methods.

Matthiae was born July 25, 1900, at Lima, Ohio.

Surviving are the step-daughter; a step-son, Harold Krueger, Appleton; a brother, Edwin, Lima, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Shocker, West DePere.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon at Hoh Funeral home and burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body may be viewed at the funeral home.

Board Gives District Permit to Extend Area

A request of the Buchholz Sanitary district to enlarge the area from which sewage will be taken by the Appleton treatment plant was granted by the board of public works this morning. The addition is a parcel of land extending from the eastern boundary of the present district to the eastern line of S. Lawe street and 120 feet south of the south line of Calumet street. The city attorney was authorized to amend the contract between the city and the Buchholz district.

CANCEL BRIDGE LESSON

The bridge lesson scheduled for Tuesday night at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. has been canceled, Homer Gebhardt, "Y" secretary, said today. The lessons will be resumed a week from tomorrow night.

50 Exhibitors to Display Products At Housing Show

Knights of Pythias Will Hold Event at Armory March 14-16

More than 50 individuals and firms will sponsor exhibits at the sixth annual Knights of Pythias Better Housing and Home Show at Armory D March 14, 15, and 16, the committee reported today.

The executive committee for the show, of which Earl Ballard is chairman, has for several weeks been laying plans and organizing committees for the annual display of building materials, household furnishings, paints, and other equipment related to the building field.

Other members of the executive committee are Victor Schmidt, Wilmer Krueger, Earl Miller, George Nolting, Henry Ozinga, George Krueger, and Lawrence Brinkman.

The armory will be open afternoons and evenings of the 3-day show. A small admittance charge will be made for entrance into the building, which will be attractively decorated. It is planned to have music and other entertainment during the hours the armory is open.

Attendance of 5,000 people is forecast on the basis of other years and the steadily increasing interest in home building in Appleton and vicinity. What 1940 will offer for the person planning to erect a new residence or remodel his present one will be on exhibit at the 3-day show.

Youths Experiment With Flash Powder; Cut as It Explodes

Seymour — Four youths were cut, one severely, when a bottle of flash powder with which they were experimenting exploded yesterday afternoon. Arthur Wolk, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wolk, is in a Green Bay hospital with cuts about both hands. He and Raymond Miller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller; Dan Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duffy; and Eldon Christopherson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Christopherson, were experimenting with chemicals in the basement of the Christopherson home, and Wolk was holding the bottle of flash powder when it exploded.

Cold Wave Over; Mercury on Rise

14-Below-Zero Reading Reported to be Sunday's Low in City

February weather resumed its conservative behavior today after a weekend cold wave that succeeded Friday's heavy snowfall.

The mercury began slipping downward Saturday night and its lowest point Sunday morning in Appleton was reported to be 14 degrees below zero. Ranging in a cold zone yesterday, the thermometer dropped again last night, hitting six below at 10:30, the minimum for the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

The Milwaukee bureau forecast cloudy skies and "light local snows" tonight and Tuesday, with rising temperatures.

Yesterday's high was 15 above, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building registered 23 above.

WPA Recreation Room Is Open at Library

The WPA recreation room in the basement of the Appleton Public library is open daily from 1 o'clock to 9 o'clock and from 6 o'clock to 9 o'clock in the evenings. On Saturdays the room is open from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Lawrence Macklin, Sadie Junco and Donald Hale are in charge. Games are available for children and adults.

RITES TUESDAY

Funeral services for Henry Verbeten, 80, longtime resident of Kimberly and officer of Holy Name church since its founding, who died Saturday afternoon, will be conducted at 9:30 Tuesday morning at Holy Name church. He was active in church and civic affairs for many years.

Henry Verbeten Dies at Kimberly

Lived in Village Since 1887, Was Officer of Church 33 Years

Kimberly — Henry Verbeten, 80, one of the first settlers in the village and trustee and treasurer of the Holy Name church since its organization 33 years ago, died at his home at 2:30 Saturday afternoon after a lingering illness.

He was born in Holland in 1860 and came to this country in 1887, residing in this vicinity since. Mr. Verbeten's first business in the village was a tavern on Kimberly avenue and later he operated a livery stable on Main street. In 1901 he started a coal and woodyard, which he operated for 20 years. He was active in religious affairs and helped start the Holy Name church New Year's day, 1907, when he became trustee and treasurer.

Mr. Verbeten was a charter member of the Holy Name society and also a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, Little Chute. He was a member of the village board for several years, and an officer of the Kimberly Building and Loan association.

Survivors are the widow, two daughter, Mrs. Paul La Lande, Milwaukee, Mrs. Jan F. Jansen, Wilmett, Ill.; five sons, Peter, John, Sylvester, Kimberly; the Rev. Theodore Verbeten, Green Bay; Paul Milwaukee, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Tuesday morning at the Holy Name church. A solemn high mass will be conducted with the Rev. Theodore Verbeten, son of the deceased, as celebrant; Rev. Peter Skell, nephew, as deacon; and the Rev. C. B. Vanden Borne, pastor, as sub-deacon. The Rev. Alfred Hietpas, assistant pastor, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The Rev. Vanden Borne will offer the absolution after the mass. Six nephews will be bearers, John and Henry Verbeten, Charles Schell, Martin Verbeten, Kaukauna, and Louis and Martin Skell, Kimberly. Honorary bearers will be the church consulting board, Adolph Courchane, William Senecal, Martin Van Grinsven, John Welhouse, George Vanden Heuvel, and Paul Locksmidt, as trustee. The body may be viewed at the home.

He started by taking snapshots when he was nine years old.

As a result of his studies, Antony believes all human beings can be classified in seven groups. They are the physical, emotional, cunning, balanced, mental, spiritual and creative.

The emotional and the cunning, which he considers outnumber all other types 9 to 1, he holds responsible for most of the world's woes.

Radio Building Is Dedicated in Ceremony Sunday

Fred R. Zimmerman, Secretary of State, Principal Speaker

Appleton's new radio station, WHBY, was officially dedicated during a program Sunday afternoon.

Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, headed the speaking program. He outlined the benefits of radio to a community and the services it performs.

Zimmerman said radio still is in its infancy and predicted "we will live to see the day when individual radio sets may be carried in a man's vest pocket. Television is one of the possibilities of the radio of the future."

The station's new building was completed about Feb. 10 but the station has been broadcasting from Appleton since Jan. 17, according to H. J. Thurber, station manager. Transmission equipment was moved from the station's former location at DePere.

The Rev. James A. Wagner, Green Bay, is managing director of the station. The announcer is Noel Franzen and the engineer in charge is George Merk. The station is owned and operated by St. Norbert college, DePere.

Ex-Reporter Changes Red Ink Into Black

New York — A one-time newspaper man, who has replaced the red ink on an airline's ledgers with black, credits a good part of his success as an executive to his training as a reporter.

"A man must pay attention to details," says Sigmund Janos, president of Canadian Colonial Airways, operating between New York and Montreal.

"A reporter scrutinizes the smallest item on a police blotter. It may develop into a big news story. An airline executive must watch the little things which may spell the difference between profit and loss. When we discontinued serving afternoon tea aloft, and complaints began coming in, we started it again in a hurry."

Janos is a graduate of both the University of California and the University of San Francisco. He worked as a reporter in Sacramento and San Francisco, and is a former chief deputy for the California Superintendent of Banks.

Johns to Demand Revision of Board

Says Labor Body 'Should Not Act Both as Prosecutor and Judge'

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—When members of a self-appointed committee of the house meet this evening to discuss unemployment problems, Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Appleton Republican, intends to demand that the present national labor relations board be revised.

"I shall propose that more members be added to the board and that their duties be clearly defined," Johns says. "The board shouldn't act both as prosecutor and judge."

Johns believes that the principal factor which is "hamstringing business" and causing unemployment is, in addition to the national labor relations act, the operation of unemployment compensation. He says that in Wisconsin, for instance, a man should have to work for longer than two weeks to become eligible for unemployment compensation benefits. He could well take on 15 additional men in his own factory, Johns asserts, but does not do so for fear that business might slacken after a short time and that the men laid off after a couple of weeks would absorb the fund accumulated for unemployment compensation.

"When business is encouraged to absorb more men, the unemployment question won't be so serious," Johns declares.

The principal value of this evening's meeting, he believes, is that congressmen interested in unemployment questions will be able to talk freely without having their statements become a part of the record.

Pledges of Three Lawrence College Sororities Become Actives at Initiation Parties

PROUDLY WEARING their new sorority pins to class today for the first time, pledges of three Lawrence college sororities became actives in initiation ceremonies over the weekend.

New pledges of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, honored at an initiation banquet Saturday noon at the Conway hotel, are the Misses Mary Lou Van Wyck, Appleton; Charlotte Kufak, Grace Kamerling, Marjorie Herrmann, Lucille Klubertanz and Betty Marquardt, Milwaukee; Helen Albrecht, LaCrosse; Joyce Jouvenat, Petersburg, Neb.; Lois Mattson, Cannon Falls, Minn.; Marion Pietsch, Wauwatosa; Marcella Reed, Zion, Ill.; Mildred Smith, Houghton, Mich.; Margaret Wilmoth, Evanston; and Ione Mitchell, Suring, Wis.

Miss Marquardt and Miss Smith, because they had the highest scholastic standings, received their pins as gifts from the Appleton alumnae club of the sorority and from a Chicago alumnae club. The two girls will be entertained by Appleton alumnae at their March meeting.

Alpha Delta Pi sorority initiated the following girls Sunday morning:

Marion Bell, Hanover, N. Mex.; Judith Burley, Lorain, Ohio; Jean Hammond, Kenosha; Martha Ho-barth, Aurora, Ill.; Jeanne Lankford, Evanston; Ellen Marble, Gladstone, Mich.; Dorien Montz, Shorewood; Helen Osen, De Pere; Rhoda Porter, Milwaukee; Maxine Ray, Libertyville, Ill.; Louise Zimmerman, Milwaukee; and Charlotte Graf, Park Ridge, Ill.

Honored at Banquet
After their initiation they were honored at a 1 o'clock banquet Sunday afternoon at the Conway hotel annex. Miss Margaret Smith, Green Bay, was toastmistress, and the Misses Betty Meyer, Appleton, representing the alumnae chapter, Patricia Guenther, Campbellport, Wis., and Jeanne Lankford were the speakers.

New Kappa Deltas were initiated

Chaplain Leads Discussion at Club Gathering

QUESTIONS and informal discussion formed the program at the meeting of the Newman club, Catholic student organization of Lawrence college, Sunday afternoon in St. Joseph's hall. The Rev. Father Bernardine, O. M. Cap., chaplain of the club, led the discussion and about 25 young people attended.

A pot-luck supper was served by a group of members of Catholic Daughters of America who are sponsoring the Newman club for the rest of this school term. Mrs. P. J. Heenan was chairman, and assisting her were Mrs. Eugene Walsh, Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mrs. Joseph Rossmessl, Jr., Miss Agnes Rossmessl, Miss Harry Long, Mrs. F. J. Rankin and Mrs. J. N. Schneider. Several other members made donations for the supper.

There will be another meeting of the club in two weeks.
Mrs. George Katsoulas, Appleton, was in Fond du Lac Sunday night to attend the installation of newly elected officers of the Daughters of Aphaea, American Hellenic Educational Progressive association. Mrs. Katsoulas is chairman and governor of the board of the auxiliary. The installation, which took place at the Church of Holy Trinity hall in Fond du Lac, was conducted by the district governor and past president, Miss Catherine Megellas, Fond du Lac. The president of the Aphaea and the president of the Sons of Pericles, boys' organization, also were present. A dance followed the installation.

Donald Koz discussed the study topic, the life of Edward MacDowell, at the meeting of the Junior Music Boosters club Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Shiraz Piette, 425 E. Spring street. A parliamentary drill was conducted by Miss Gladys Michaelson, counselor of the club. Dorothy Beelen, Mary Lou Brown, Clarence Meltz, Lois Meltz, Barbara Fish, Betty Piette, Verona Jandrey and Janet Shimek presented a program of piano selections. The meeting ended with a combined Valentine and Washington's birthday party.

Kappa Delta alumnae will meet Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. H. H. Heble, 838 E. North street. It will be a 7 o'clock dessert meeting.

Men's Club to See Road Safety Film

Sergeant Carl Radtke, in charge of the Appleton police traffic division, will show a movie on safety at the meeting of St. Paul Men's club at 7:45 tonight in St. Paul Lutheran church parlors.

Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Episcopal church will have another of its weekly Lenten study classes at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the parish hall.

The meeting of Women's Union of First Baptist church scheduled for Tuesday has been postponed to Thursday because the Rev. R. H. Spangler, who will present the program, will be absent from the city tomorrow. He will attend a convention at Milwaukee to discuss plans for the Green Lake camp for young people. The Rev. Mr. Spangler will give a book review of "Through Tragedy of Triumph" by Paul Matthews at the meeting Thursday, and a candy sale will be given by Mrs. Carl Elias' circle and a white elephant sale by Mrs. Mary Payzant's circle.

They are the Misses Polly Hartquist, New London; Gainer Rupp, Austin, Minn.; Margaret Johnson, Whitewater; Beatrice McNichol and Elaine Dierksmeier, Racine; Carolyn Leland and Dorothy Hohenadel, Chicago; Marion Groninger, Milwaukee; Mary Lou Clark, Wells, Mich.; Georgiana Mitchell, Iron Mountain, Mich.; and Helen Bowly, Lombard.

The theme of the banquet, inspired by the sorority's diamond-shaped pin, was "Diamonds Are Drums."

Miss Marion Schmidt, Milwaukee, president of the sorority, was toastmistress. Miss Enid Haven, Syracuse, N. Y., vice president of last year's pledge class, gave the toast to the new initiates, and Miss McNichol, president of this year's pledges, gave the response.

Principal speaker at the banquet was Miss Virginia Stockhausen, instructor in German at Lawrence college and a Kappa Delta alumna. Miss Betty Webber, Evanston, scholarship chairman, presented the recognition pin to Mary Lou Clark for making the greatest improvement in scholastic standing between the first 9-week period and the end of the semester. Miss Marion Binzel, Milwaukee, who received the best pledge ring last year, presented the ring to Miss Dorothy Hohenadel, who will keep it till next year. Miss Binzel was in charge of arrangements for the party.

Helen Rossmessl Selects March 30 As Wedding Date

Miss Helen Rossmessl, who is engaged to John M. Jansen, Kaukauna, was announced during the holidays, has chosen March 30 for her wedding date. She was honored at a dinner Saturday night given by Mrs. Mary Jansen, Wisconsin avenue, Kaukauna, mother of her fiancé.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rossmessl, son, Matt, and daughters, Ruth, Betty and Louise, Appleton; and the latter's fiancé, Edward Misinski, Kaukauna.

Miss Mary H. Hinder was honored at a pre-nuptial shower Saturday night by her bridegroom at Candle Glow tea room. Mrs. Hazel Glaser was hostess. Each member brought a small gift for the bride-to-be who also was presented with a joint gift from the club. Bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. Raymond Pusch and Mrs. Ralph Schneider. Two tables were in play.

10 Girl Scouts Hold Winter Sports Party

Skiing, skating and tobogganing were on the program for 10 members of Troop 5, Girl Scouts of Roosevelt Junior High school, Saturday afternoon at Dyne's Country club at Hortonville. The girls fulfilled their sports requirement for scouting. Those present were Dorothy Kuehnstedt, Barbara Carlson, Joyce Endlich, Jean Wheeler, Shirley Radtke, Ann Hauer, Audrey Schmidt, Aurelia Seyfert, Joyce Jacobson and Jean Gallaher. Accompanying the group were the captain, Mrs. Josephine Donohue, and lieutenant, Mrs. Elmer Stammer.

Manhattan Club Will Dance Tuesday Night at Castle Hall

APPLETON Manhattan club will hold another of its dances Tuesday night at Castle hall, dancing to begin at 8:30. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Whitman are co-chairmen of the event and their committee includes Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Barkow, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shepherd and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Suchy.

Mrs. A. H. Falk, W. Commercial street, assisted by Mrs. Frank Wilson and Mrs. Jerry Slavik, entertained her contract bridge club Sunday night at her home. Prizes were won by Mrs. Falk and Elmer Rehbein. The three couples having low scores during the season entertained the high scorers at this event. In two weeks Mrs. Elmer Rehbein, W. Franklin street, will entertain the club.

A surprise housewarming party was given Saturday night for Mr. and Mrs. Leo Komp at their new home on N. Superior street. The evening was spent playing games, prizes at schafskopf going to Mrs. Doretta Lorenz and Joseph Deiminger. Arthur Olm won the traveling prize. Winners at dice were Donald Komp and Mrs. William Reetz, with Miss Ada Kapfing receiving the traveling prize. About 35 persons were present.

A group of neighbors surprised Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neuman, 1346 W. Second street, at a farewell party Sunday night. Cards were played, with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kramer and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dorand. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bergman and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stedlup. The Neumans, who received a gift, are moving soon to another section of the city.

When Fraternal Order of Eagles gave its weekly card party Sunday afternoon at Eagle hall, schafskopf prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Coenen, Richard Tesch, Mrs. Mabel Strutz, Otto Jenny, Ferdinand Jacobs, Frank De Decker, Joseph Stadler and John Broucheck, and dice awards by Mrs. Katherine Henry and Mrs. Mike Wagner. Mrs. Ed Sanders, Jr., won a special prize. Thirty-one tables were in play.

About 35 couples from Appleton, Green Bay, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Weyauwega and Waupaca attended the charity dance of Montefiore Ladies Aid society Sunday night at Rainbow Gardens. Mrs. E. Fielkow and Mrs. Frank Cohen were in charge of arrangements.

An open card party for the benefit of charity will be given by Women's Catholic Order of Foresters at 8:30 Wednesday night at Catholic home. Court whist, schafskopf, bridge and dice will be played. Mrs. Frances Morrow is chairman and Mrs. William J. Stier assistants. There will be a business meeting at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Wilmer Franck entertained seven guests in observance of her birthday anniversary Sunday night at her home on E. Pacific street. Honors at bridge went to Mrs. Wilmer Franck and Mrs. Carl Farwell. The other guests were Mrs. Herman Franck, Mrs. Albert Drephal, Miss Margaret Franck, Mrs. Wesley Latham and Mrs. Arthur Borsche.

Miss Anna Tarr entertained the past presidents of the Appleton Business and Professional Women's club at a dinner Saturday evening at the Candle Glow tea room. She had 11 guests. Cards were played after the dinner. Miss Laura Fischer will be hostess at the group's next meeting.

The Knights of Columbus weekly contract bridge tournament will take place Tuesday night at the Conway annex. Play will begin at 7:30.

Twenty-five young people of the Pilgrim Fellowship of First Congregational church attended a sleigh ride party Sunday night in place of their regular meeting. After the ride the group was entertained at the parsonage by the Rev. and Mrs. Dascomb E. Forbush. James Germanson made arrangements for the party.

The Beverly Breinig School of the Dance had one of its monthly studio recitals Sunday afternoon at Odd Fellows hall. The pupils entertained their parents and friends with a program of novelty numbers, vocal selections and acrobatic and tap dance. Robert Lemke, one of the assistant teachers, appeared on the program in solo numbers and also as partner with Miss Breinig in an exhibition ballroom number. Miss Lucille Kuehn, also an assistant teacher, and Miss Joan Vermeiren danced on last month's program. About 100 persons attended the recital yesterday.

Ten tables were in play at the card party given Sunday night at the Appleton State bank building by the Appleton Maennerchor. Prizes at schafskopf were won by Rudolph Twarz, Herman Robe and Ross Glashen, and at skat, by Herman Pruetz and Joseph Obermeier.

Mrs. Loretta Verwey, 610 N. Appleton street, left today for a month's trip to New York and other eastern states.

UCT Chapter Entertains at Benefit Party

AN overflow crowd attended the convention fund benefit supper given Saturday night at Odd Fellows hall by the United Commercial Travelers auxiliary. The evening was full of surprises, from the cherry tree laden with realistic ripe cherries which greeted the people as they entered the door to the minuet given in true colonial style by the Tuxis club of Memorial Presbyterian church. The cherries on the tree provided another surprise when they were opened, each one containing a prize. George Washington decorations, including small cherry trees, adorned the tables. The banquet completed the work of the convention fund committee, of which Mrs. George Buth was chairman. General arrangements for the convention, which will be held in Appleton in June, now will be taken care of by the executive and subordinate committees.

Twenty-six tables of cards were in play after the banquet last night. Prizes at contract went to Mr. and Mrs. William Geenen, high, and Mrs. Harry Pratt and Merrick Nelson, low; at auction bridge, to Mr. and Mrs. Anton Olson, high, and Mrs. L. M. Schindler and H. E. Trettien, low; and at schafskopf, to Mrs. John Goodland, Mrs. C. L. Green, Max Bauer and George Kuehn.

The local auxiliary to Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Katherine Robertson, 813 W. Lorain street. Cards will be played after the meeting.

"The Catholic Press" is the subject of an address to be given by the Rev. Cyprian Abler, O. M. Cap., pastor of St. Joseph's church, at the meeting of Catholic Order of Foresters at 7:30 Tuesday night at Catholic home. Cards will be played after the meeting.

The snow arrived at just the right time for the juvenile court of Women's Catholic Order of Foresters to plan, at its meeting Saturday at Catholic home, a sleigh ride party for tonight. The youngsters will meet at the corner of College avenue and Walnut street at 7 o'clock from where the sleigh will leave, and they will return to Catholic home for refreshments. Mrs. Edwin Massonette will be in charge of refreshments.

Plans were made also for an Easter party March 30 with Marion Pelczynski, Frances Kools and Marilyn Long in charge.

Six new members will be initiated into Friendship auxiliary, No. 2, National Association of Power Engineers, at a meeting of the organization at 7:30 tonight at the Appleton Woman's club. Mrs. Jack Girard and Mrs. Felix Meulemans, Kimberly, will have charge of the social hour.

ST. MARY SPEAKER

The Rev. John Costello, above, of the Ft. Wayne diocese is one of the two missionary priests conducting a 2-weeks mission at St. Mary church, this week's sessions being for men. Father Costello was in Appleton last winter to conduct a mission at St. Mary church, but it was interrupted because of his illness. The Rev. W. B. Pipp of the Detroit archdiocese is assisting Father Costello.

Large Attendance Marks Opening of Mission for Men

With a crowd of men present that rivaled the attendance at the women's mission of last week, the men's mission at St. Mary church got off to a start last night under the direction of the Rev. John Costello and the Rev. W. B. Pipp. Over 400 men heard Father Costello's opening instruction and Father Pipp's sermon on "The Importance of the Family."

"The dictators now abroad in the world insist that the family exists for the state," Father Pipp said in part. "The church teaches that the state, on the contrary, exists for the family. Keep Christ at the head of your family, and both state and church will thrive the better for it."

Father Pipp is a brother of Wally Pipp whose name appeared a few years ago on the sports pages as a member of the New York Yankees. The question box which proved popular during the women's mission will continue to be a feature of the men's services which are held at 7:30 each night at the church.

92 Species of Birds Counted In Census Taken in December

BY CLARA HUSSONG

According to the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology's magazine, "The Passenger Pigeon," 92 species of birds were counted in the Christmas bird census taken in December.

Both Green Bay and Appleton took part in the work and their records, besides those of Lake Geneva, Madison, Racine, Watertown, and Waukegan, are published in "Bird-Lore" as well as in the state magazine.

Green Bay counted the largest number of individual birds, a total of 2,067, while the Kumlun club of Madison with 46 species topped the list in the count of species. Racine came next with 42. The census taking groups totaled 121 hours in the field, traveled 21 miles by car and 188 by foot. Each group's list represents one day's effort, the census-taking days this year being from Dec. 17 through 25.

Some Injured Ducks

Appleton's bird census was taken Dec. 23 and their 22 species are as follows: mallard, black duck, greater scaup, American golden-eye, American merganser, mottled grouse, coot, horned grebe, blue jay, crow, tufted titmouse, chickadee, white-breasted nuthatch, brown creeper, starling, English sparrow, purple finch, goldfinch, junco and tree sparrow. The titmouse was observed in Appleton as early as Nov. 30, about three weeks before it was noticed in Green Bay. Green Bay and Appleton were the only towns recording this unusual bird, each observing a single bird.

Some of the birds seen at Appleton were not recorded in Green Bay's census which was taken Dec. 24 and totaled 24 species. The following additional species, however, were recorded: ring-necked duck, pheasant, red-headed woodpecker, horned lark, robin, evening grosbeak, redpoll, and snow bunting. Two apparently sick or injured ring-necked ducks were found by the group working the east bay shore and carried to the wildlife sanctuary. The other birds in the sanctuary were not counted this year.

Waukegan's list of 25 species include the following birds not mentioned before: red-shouldered hawk, red-tailed hawk, marsh hawk, European partridge, mourning dove, screech owl, short-eared owl, northern shrike and gaird red-winged blackbird. Some of these, you will notice, are summer birds staying over through the winter.

Two Madison Clubs

More birds recorded by Lake Geneva in their list of 35 are: common loon, pied-billed grebe, Canada goose, gadwall, green-winged teal, wood duck, redhead, canvasback, bluehead, ring-billed gull, golden-crowned kinglet, white-throated and song sparrow, and Lapland longspur. This list was published in "Bird-Lore" but not in the state magazine, and as four of its birds, Canada goose, green-winged teal, wood duck and canvasback were not observed by any other groups, they bring the state's list up from 92 to 96.

Among its 39 species Watertown observed the following birds not mentioned before: hooded merganser, red-breasted merganser, Cooper's hawk, bob-white, Wilson's snipe, great-horned, barred and long-eared owls, and flicker.

Both the Kumlun Bird club of Madison and the Madison Bird club reports were published by both magazines. New birds among the 39 species observed by the Madison Bird club are as follows: baldpate, pintail, lesser scaup, ruddy duck,

Six States Urge Court Not to O. K. Added Diversion

Deny Unhealthful Conditions Exist in Chicago Sanitary Canal

Washington—(AP)—Six states today asked the supreme court not to grant an application of Illinois for permission to increase the diversion of water from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence system from 1,500 to 5,000 cubic feet per second in addition to domestic purposes.

The states, which filed a combined answer to the Illinois request, are Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan and New York.

Illinois asked for the increase "so as to avert the obnoxious, noisome, unhealthy and dangerous condition now existing in the Illinois waterway and the Chicago sanitary district canal."

The states told the court that the application of Illinois was not filed within the time allowed for modification of the decree, adding:

"This petition represents another in the long chain of attempts to avoid the termination of the petitioner's adjudged wrong and restoration of rights by reliance upon exaggerated and simulated dangers to public health, which, if they existed, would be the result of inexcusable negligence or willful default of the petitioner over a period of nearly forty years."

Deny Contention

The states denied that any unhealthful conditions exist in the Chicago sanitary canal. The Des Plaines or the Illinois rivers during 1939, at further denied the any unhealthful conditions would exist there during the summer of 1940.

"The reports submitted to the United States Public Health Service by the state health officer for the state of Illinois," continued the response, "disclose no unusual incidents of water-borne or other diseases on or along any of the waters described in the petition."

"No one of the cities mentioned in the petition, namely, Argo, Lemont, Lockport, Joliet, Morris, Marseilles, Ottawa and LaSalle, Ill., takes its drinking or domestic water from the Illinois waterway."

"All such cities or towns except Argo, obtain their drinking water from wells located in the vicinity thereof."

The states further alleged that the complaining municipalities, Lemont, Lockport and Joliet, "dump their raw sewage into said water courses and contribute to the alleged condition of which they are alleged to complain."

Graded School Pupils At Black Creek Give Patriotic Programs

Black Creek—Washington and Lincoln programs were held at the Black Creek Graded school at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. There was no school in the afternoon. The fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades gave the following program:

Readings by Janice Wickesberg, "A Birthday Party"; Willard Last, Jr., "Abraham Lincoln's Autobiography"; Beverly Bergesbaken, "Gettysburg Address"; June Diebler, "Lincoln's Education"; Bernice Mielke, "O Captain, My Captain"; C. E. Roach, "I'm An American."

A talk on the early life of Washington was given by Lucille Barth and his later life by Vernon Kitzinger. The following playlets were given: "Flag Etiquette," sixth grade; "Lincoln and Washington Memorials," fifth grade; "Washington's Life in Rhyme," sixth grade; "Lincoln and the Emancipation," Kathryn Mielke, June Rohloff, Armon Fischer and Ralph Kluge; flag salute by all.

The following songs were sung: "America the Beautiful," "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America."

A program also was given by the first, second, third and fourth grades. Readings given were "Who Knows," "Like George Washington," "He Never Told a Lie," "Lincoln," "So Can You," "Lincoln's Picture," "Just a Little Girl," "Can't be President," "Washington and I," "Our Country," "Lincoln's Humor," "Lincoln's Kind Heart."

Dramatization, "Washington and the Cherry Tree" dialog, "What Should Have Happened" and "George Washington," three exercises, "The World Moves On," "Making of Old Glory" and "Little Soldiers," group of original poems, third and fourth grades.

Songs — "On Lincoln," "Little Month of February," "George Washington," "Washington's Birthday," "The Flag." The flag salute was also given.

C. E. Roach attended a citizenship day meeting last week at the office of B. J. Rohan, city superintendent of schools, Appleton.

Roosevelt Holds Popular Lead for Democratic Nomination; Hull Gains Support as 2nd Choice

Dr. Gallup

Princeton, N. J.—With the Democratic national convention less than five months away, and with a series of state primaries looming immediately ahead, the latest nationwide survey of rank-and-file Democrats shows President Roosevelt still dominating the party picture.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's silence on the question (78 per cent) still say they still say they would like to see him renominated when the party convention meets in Chicago next July. There has been no change in the president's rank-and-file support in the month-and-a-half since the previous Institute survey.

Two important developments have occurred with regard to the other leading figures in the Democratic picture, however:

1. Quiet, spotlight-shunning Cordell Hull, Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of state, has risen sharply in the Institute index following widely publicized stories to the effect that the president looks with some favor on Mr. Hull as his successor.

2. Vice President John N. Garner, who has recently entered his name in several state primaries in opposition to "draft Roosevelt," states, slips backward. Although Mr. Garner is still the leading popular choice of rank-and-file Democrats in case President Roosevelt doesn't run, he receives 40 per cent of the preference vote today as compared with the very substantial 58 per cent he received early in January.

There are other indications, meanwhile, that the opinion of rank-and-file voters has not yet crystallized and that much can happen to change the picture between now and convention-time. Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, for instance, who was one of the earliest entries in the 1940 race, has lost ground with Democratic voters in the past month-and-a-half. On the other hand, Postmaster General Jim Farley and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who have announced more recently, show corresponding gains.

Finally the survey reveals the names of more than a score of other Democratic eligibles with popular support. The list is led by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson—often mentioned as a White House favorite—Justice Frank Murphy, Speaker William B. Bankhead and Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. In this group also appears Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, who, although he has often run as a Republican, receives substantial mention from Democrats.

Roosevelt Still First

As the convention draws nearer, President Roosevelt's personal support with Democratic voters in all parts of the country makes him more and more of a dominating figure—as far as the 1940 nomination goes. Whether he seeks the nomination for himself, allows himself to be drafted, or attempts to nominate some one else who will carry on the New Deal, it is highly significant that he outpulls all other Democratic candidates combined at this time.

In the first of two questions put to a representative cross-section of Democratic voters in each state the Institute asked: "Whom would you like to see elected president this year?" The following figures show how voters answer the question now as compared with a month-and-a-half ago:

TODAY

1. Roosevelt	78%
2. Garner	40%
3. Hull	10%
4. McNutt	6%
5. Wheeler	5%
6. Farley	4%
7. Jackson	3%
8. LaGuardia	3%
9. Bankhead	1%
10. Byrd	1%
All Others	5%

JANUARY 3

1. Roosevelt	78%
2. Garner	58%
3. McNutt	13%
4. Hull	4%
5. Wheeler	2%
6. Farley	2%
7. Jackson	1%
8. LaGuardia	1%
9. Bankhead	1%
10. Byrd	1%
All Others	1%

The greatest demand for Roosevelt's re-nomination comes from Democrats in the lower income groups, the survey shows—including the great majority of the "ill-clad, ill-housed and ill-nourished" lower-third of the population to whom the President referred to his Second Inaugural. "Roosevelt has done more for the common people than any president in a generation," "Roosevelt should be in there to look after America's interests while this war's going on," these are the typical comments of lower income group voters who favor Roosevelt. The latter comment frequently comes from the middle and well-to-do groups as well.

Sectionally the greatest Roosevelt support (85% of those with opinions) comes from the Middle Atlantic States—New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia—and the smallest (69%) from the South.

In its second question the Institute asked: "If President Roosevelt is not a candidate, whom would you like to see elected?" The answers with the January survey are as follows:

(If FDR Doesn't Run)

TODAY

1. Garner	40%
2. Hull	25%
3. McNutt	11%
4. Farley	8%
5. Wheeler	4%
6. LaGuardia	3%
7. Jackson	1%
8. Bankhead	1%
9. Byrd	1%
All Others	5%

JANUARY 3

1. Garner	58%
2. McNutt	17%
3. Hull	8%
4. Farley	5%
5. Wheeler	2%
6. LaGuardia	1%
7. Jackson	1%
8. Bankhead	1%
9. Byrd	1%
All Others	5%

Interestingly enough, the comments show that both Mr. Garner and Mr. Hull probably owe much of their present popular support to the fact that their names have been associated with that of President Roosevelt for nearly eight years. "I'm for Garner because he was good enough to be Roosevelt's running mate," they frequently explain. Or, "I'm for Hull because he's been the President's right-hand man."

The results raise the question whether any Democrat can win wide popular support at the present time by making a frontal attack on Mr. Roosevelt. Al Smith tried it in 1936 and, according to Institute polls at the time, was able to swing few votes. As long as the president commands the personal support of so large a group of the Democratic rank-and-file, it seems likely that any Democratic candidate who did not receive at least his tacit blessing would face a hard road to victory.

A significant fact about the support for Mr. Garner is that the greatest share of it comes from the same lower income voters who support President Roosevelt so overwhelmingly. Mr. Hull's strength, on the other hand, comes in greater proportion from Democrats in the upper and middle brackets. The vote

Teacher at Waupaca Takes Pulpit During Illness of Pastor

Waupaca—Because of the illness of the Rev. Edward Langdon, the pulpit of the Methodist church was filled Sunday by Henry Lampmann, member of the junior high school faculty.

The choir anthem, "Seek the Lord," had an incidental solo by Mrs. Clifford Johnson, and a solo arrangement of the eight hundred year old hymn, "O Sacred Head," was sung by Miss Kathleen Cristy.

The sermon was based on the scripture, "If two of you will agree, I will be with you." Mr. Lampmann made a plea for tolerance for all forms of religion, even the worship of beauty or the "good earth." It was his belief that Methodism could well borrow from the respect many phases of Catholicism, Christianity, Science, Hinduism, Confucianism, Mormonism, Hebraism, Lutheranism, and many Protestant denominations. He made the prophecy that the church faces a crisis because it is a house divided; Christian denominations insist on their separate entities though, and Mr. Lampmann quoted Robert Frost, "something there is that does not like a wall." He declared that the Unitarians have found the good germs of open-mindedness for in their prayer book are included the words of Browning, the poet; Robert Ingersoll, the atheist; Gandhi, the little man of the loin cloths; Confucius, the sage of long ago; and even Brigham Young, the far-seeing Mormon.

The first quarterly conference will be held at 7:30 Friday evening. There will be an instruction class Saturday morning for children.

Costs in Use of Car for Business Deductible Item

If a car is used for both business and pleasure, those maintenance and operating expenses which constitute allowable deductions for federal income-tax purposes should be allocated on the basis of the time the car is used, according to R. G. Mayrand, deputy collector of internal revenue.

Beginning today and continuing until March 15, Mayrand will be in his office on the second floor of the post office building to confer with persons regarding their federal income tax returns.

In figuring deductions for car use, the federal government offers the following explanation:

If the total expense of operation and maintenance, plus depreciation, for the taxable year amounted to $800, and the car was used three-fourths of the time for business, the allowable deduction for income tax purposes would be $600.

In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed. If a law imposing a tax on gasoline places the tax on the consumer, the consumer may deduct the tax. But the taxpayer must have kept records of the payment of such taxes in order that the deduction may be substantiated.

The federal gasoline tax is not deductible by the consumer. The taxpayer may ascertain whether a state gasoline tax is deductible by the consumer or by the dealer by addressing an inquiry to the collector of internal revenue.

In any case where the gasoline purchased is used for business purposes, the tax may be regarded as a part of the cost of the gasoline and deducted as a business expense. But in such cases the gasoline tax cannot be deducted separately as a tax under the item of taxes.

Be A Careful Driver

Lenten Thought For Today

Monday, Feb. 26. He must increase, but I must decrease. Read John 2:27-29.

So much of the unhappiness of life grows out of not knowing how and when to give up—and what to give up. It is not easy to surrender influence, popularity, power—even such little bits of them as most of us possess. To "decrease" victoriously is a fine art.

Prophet John was never greater than when he said, generously, dispassionately, "he must wax and I must wane." We can blow the bubble of our self-importance till it bursts, or we can trust our tasks, our cases and our hopes to those who take them over; grateful for their share in their administration, glad that new strength and wisdom are assuming them, concerned only for their victory and cheering on the ranks from which we begin to step out. So God's causes and man's causes make their ascent. And we, through our victory over our lesser, protesting selves, have made almost our noblest contribution.

Prayer: We praise Thee, Lord of the Wise and Good, that Thy causes find their good soldiers from generation, and thank Thee for the hands which take from ours the standards of Thy Kingdom. So enable us in our loyalty to Thy causes that we may rejoice in any wisdom, strength or goodness greater than our own, and in their triumph win our own souls. Amen.

Advance Date of Neenah, St. Mary Tilt to Wednesday

Game Shifted From Friday Night Because of St. Norbert Tournery

Neenah—Neenah High school's basketball quintet, co-champions of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference, will clash with Menasha St. Mary, champions of the Fox Valley Catholic conference, Wednesday night at the Neenah gymnasium instead of Friday night, it was announced today.

The game was shifted because St. Mary will play in the St. Norbert tournament which starts Sunday.

A collection of money will be turned over to a national sports committee which is campaigning against infantile paralysis. Grandland Rice, sports authority, heads the campaign.

Wednesday night's contest will be the second game this season between the Twin City schools. St. Mary winning the first conflict, 27 to 21, at Menasha.

Coch Ole Jorgensen probably will start his three seniors in the final home game for the Rockets, Captain Harland Hesselman, center; Ed Winkelman, forward, and Tom Christofferson, guard.

St. John Quintet Defeats Kimberly

Win Gives Polish Squad Record of 8 Victories, 4 Losses

Menasha—St. John's grade school cagers scored a 25 to 15 victory over Holy Name of Kimberly in a Catholic Boy conference game Sunday afternoon at St. John's school hall.

The victory gives the Polish lads eight victories against four defeats and preserves an outside chance for them to tie for conference honors.

The Polish lads rallied in the last two periods to score their victory after the score was tied at 8-all after the first half. Gracyalny scored four baskets and two free throws for 10 points to lead the St. John's attack while Ziolkowski, Klatski, and Jaskolski contributed two baskets each.

Larson scored two and two for six points for the Holy Name team while Schense and VanHammond added four points each. The Kimberly team has won four games and lost eight.

Falcons Lose to Germania Keglers

12 Teams Compete in Special Matches at Menasha Alleys

Menasha—Germania league kegglers defeated the Falcons league, 4,948 pins to 4,806, in a special match at Hendy alleys Sunday night. Six teams represented each league in the kegling. Refreshments were served at Falcons hall after the bowling.

High scores were few but John Knorr collected a 587 series to lead the Germanias. S. Luka hit a 574 for the best Falcon score. The Falcons salvaged some glory when Calverts collected a 2,598 total, the high team score.

High games by Falcon kegglers included A. Zielinski 212, P. Kozloski 232, Paul Winiarski 221, and F. Pozolinski 206. High games by Germania kegglers included E. Hoks 223, M. Erickson 201, W. Christensen 208, and John Knorr 205.

For the Germania league, Meadowview, Bert and Bens, Broadway No. 2, and Broadway No. 1 teams defeated their opponents on total pins. Calverts defeated the Bayers Bar team, leaders of the Germania league, 2,598 to 2,499, and Ciske Brothers won from Meyers Oil for the only Falcon victories. Each league won nine games.

to be offset by a reduction of like amount in next year's regular farm bill. Secretary Wallace said the two-year overall total would be unchanged.

Those working for a $200,000,000 farm parity fund, however, regarded the committee action as indicative of a congressional trend which has developed potential Republican support.

Wallace himself told the senate appropriation committee today that failure to bring farm income up to the pre-World war parity level might seriously hamper crop control programs and create new price depressing surpluses.

Lacking parity, he testified, farmers will turn to "big production for markets that do not exist."

Hull Discusses Markets

World markets was the topic of Secretary Hull, appearing before the senate finance committee in support of the house-approved bill to extend the reciprocal trade program three years beyond June 12. Hull said a requirement that the senate ratify all trade treaties would make the program "entirely unworkable" and would "inevitably hurt our foreign trade, and, through trade, our nation's economic well-being."

Other developments of a busier-than-usual day on Capitol Hill: Attorney General Jackson refused, on traditional grounds, to rule whether the national labor board had violated a federal law against using any part of an appropriation for influencing congress.

Secretary Edison told a house naval subcommittee that it would be in the interest of efficiency and economy to consolidate the navy's bureaus of repair and engineering into a single unit.

The house rules committee granted legislative right-of-way today to the senate-approved bill which increases the capitalization of the export-import bank by $100,000,000 and permits a $20,000,000 loan to Finland.

The measure will come up for action tomorrow in the house. It was blocked today because Representative Fish (R-N. Y.) demanded six hours debate.

Clapper Plays Democrats Now Whooping for a Third Term

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Call it a bit of an attack if you insist, but the way Democratic politicians who have been lukewarm about the New Deal all these years are now swallowing a third-term prospect, and helping it down, leaves me feeling like a combination of Hugh Johnson and Westbrook Pegler after a bad night.

What do you suppose these Democrats would be saying if it were a Republican president in the White House and a third term were in the offing for him? They'd be shrieking and passing resolutions and warning of the downfall of the republic. That's exactly what they did when the third-term horns began to blow for Coolidge.

That little fellow, to whom the presidency was a nice job which permitted a nap every afternoon, whose idea to get rid of power instead of reaching out for it, was as harmless as a man in the White House could be. You would only get more centralization under Coolidge by cramming it down his throat. He never lifted a finger to run things.

Yet when Republican politicians began talking of him for a third term, Democrats rose up to save our American institutions. They put through a senate resolution warning that any departure from the two-term tradition would be "unwise, unpatriotic, and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

They put it through at a time when there were no world conditions term in disregard of the spirit of the presidential primary, a group of the leaders held a secret caucus before the full meeting. In that secret caucus all of those present were opposed to a third-term resolution excepting the Democratic national committeemen. Charles Sawyer. They wanted to duck completely the question of renominating Mr. Roosevelt. But when the question came up in the regular meeting after the secret caucus, they went unanimously in favor of a third term. Not a one wanted to be in any position openly where he could be accused of being "anti-Roosevelt."

When President Roosevelt's personal secretary, Miss Marguerite Lehand, said she was for a third term because she liked her job, she spoke for a good many others. I have been a fairly consistent sympathizer with what Mr. Roosevelt has tried to do. He responded to the needs of the country. While he has made his share of mistakes, he saw the problems and had the courage to tackle them. In all of this he has functioned to strengthen democracy. Democracy must be strong enough to act. It has suffered in the past because it was hamstrung, for instance by narrow-minded policymaking decisions of the supreme court. The central government must be strong. We have at last seen it given the necessary powers by a more liberal construction of the constitution.

Folly to Sacrifice Democratic Processes But as Prof. John Dewey says, the processes of democracy are more important than any special result attained.

That is to say, if you preserve democratic processes, you preserve everything, you save the tools. Sacrifice them to any specific end, and you may find that the price was disastrously high.

Now that we have an infinitely more powerful federal government than ever before, it is all the more essential to preserve checks on that power where possible. It becomes utterly foolish in face of this new growth in federal power, to add to it needlessly by opening up the way by which a regime can indefinitely perpetuate itself through use of this power.

But what does a politician who is worried about his meal-ticket care about all that?

army 100,000 men to reach their present position of threatening Viipuri.

This observer says that 4,000 red soldiers killed have been the average price exacted daily for the gains that have carried Russia's hammer-and-sickle banner, since the start of the big push Feb. 1, to a point within a few miles of Viipuri.

Finland's aggregate loss has not been disclosed. The red army has exerted the greatest pressure on the western extremity of the Karelian isthmus front, the Gulf of Finland end, with the result that Finns acknowledge a spearhead within eight miles of Viipuri, in peacetime Finland's third largest city with a population of about 74,000.

There were unconfirmed reports that Finland's island fortress Koivisto, 20 miles south of Viipuri, had fallen, but the official Finnish version was that the defenders were still holding out.

(The Leningrad headquarters of the red army announced Saturday night that occupation not only of Koivisto, but also the neighboring strongly fortified islands of Turusari and Pusaari, had been completed.

Russian Report

(The latest Russian communique, issued early today, reported occupation of 28 more defensive fortifications, bringing to 762 the total of such positions reported taken since the isthmus offensive was started. Many of these have been described as "iron and concrete artillery forts"—apparently the small pillboxes with which the Mannerheim line is studded.)

The Finns' Sunday communique, covering Saturday's operations, said localized Russian attacks on the isthmus were repulsed with "heavy casualties inflicted on the enemy" and "at least 17 tanks were destroyed."

A quantity of weapons, including five trench mortars were reported added to the Finns' store of Russian-made arms as a result of a "successful defensive action" northeast of Lake Ladoga.

The communique told of other successes, including the ejection from Finnish territory of red detachments which had crossed the border at Suomussalmi and the surrounding of a red ski detachment of 180 men in the far north region of Petsamo.

important than any special result attained.

Pittsburgh — Resolved: that from this day forward, I shall at all times cherish profound respect for an actor's courage, no matter what I think of him otherwise.

The other day, I faced a theater audience for the first time—and no raw recruit, ordered over the top to mop up enemy machine gun nests, ever had a worse case of jitters than yours truly.

Would I miff my lines . . . would I trip and take a brodie? . . . what would the audience think? . . . what made me agree to do anything like this anyway? . . . why didn't that plane crack up and—gosh! IT'S ALMOST TIME TO GO OUT THERE ON THE STAGE! . . .

Veteran troupers assure me that actors (WE actors, if you please) get used to such emotional maelstroms eventually and take them in stride. But just the same, I'm afraid my constitution couldn't stand the strain indefinitely. I doubt if any one's could. From now on, I shall not be amazed by even the eccentricities of a Barrymore. # Finns Had No Choice but to Fight, Captain's Letter Says

BY H. D. WILHOIT
Chicago—One sentence in a censored letter from Capt. Lauri Pihkala of the Finnish army to an American friend epitomized the courage that has made Finland mighty mite of a nation in her end against invading Russia.

He said simply: "We hadn't any choice whatever."

The letter was written somewhere in Finland on Jan. 6 to Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the new Olympic committee.

Pihkala was a middle-distance runner then; he is now a member of the Finnish Olympic games committee. His letter regretted that his wretched Russian assault might annihilate now the twelfth

"Olympiad," scheduled this year in Helsinki, but he said "if this trouble will be over ere the end of May we will be able to manage the Olympics."

Laconically Capt. Pihkala remarked that "in the first frontier fights when our lines retired back to our fortified lines of defense the strength ratio was as a rule in Finnish battalion against a Russian division. The respective losses compare, as a rule, one Finn to 30 to 50 Russians."

In somewhat awkward English that detracted nothing from his meaning, Capt. Pihkala said "I cannot see there was anything particular that we took stand against Russia. We hadn't, indeed, any choice whatever. It was simply a matter of course that we shouldn't yield and not hand over our bases. We felt absolutely convinced that once inside here they would have made quick end of us, literally eradicated this nation."

Fists Fly in Last Quarter as Union Cagers Win, 53-40

New London Guard, Menasha Forward are Sent to Showers

New London — Fists flew in the last quarter as Furniture Workers Local 1642 edged out the Menasha Mellow Brews, 53 to 40, in a tight basketball battle on the New London High school court here Sunday afternoon.

Ted Ebert, New London guard, and Roger Kettering, Menasha forward, were ejected from the game when they came to blows over roughing in the last few minutes of play. Both players suffered cuts, lips and had stitches taken by physicians to close the wounds.

The score was tied at 9-all the first quarter. Menasha trailed 22 to 18 at the half and 34 to 32 at the third period. Doug Hoier paced the winners with eight buckets and four gift shots for 20 points while Roger Kettering was high point man for the visitors with six goals.

The Menasha Brews are one of the teams entered in New London's Amateur tournament here starting March 14.

Plywood Wins

Plywood Local 2890 defeated the Neenah News-Times, 47 to 32, at the high school gym yesterday afternoon. They led all the way, 13 to 9, 22 to 17, and 38 to 23 at the quarters. Chuck Pfeiffer paced the locals with seven buckets and four free throws. Next Sunday afternoon the Plywoods will meet the strong Mattson Green Waves here at the high school gym.

Kenneth Fehrman's Miller High Lufes played a practice game against Black Creek at Shiocton Sunday afternoon.

6-Room Structure Will be Built in Next Year Or in 1942

New London — Erection of a new parochial school in 1941 or 1942 was voted by the Emanuel Lutheran congregation at a special meeting Friday night and preliminary steps were launched. A 6-room school with auditorium at an approximate cost of $37,000 is contemplated.

A committee was named to seek plans, get estimates, plan finances and report at the quarterly meeting of the congregation on April 1. George Krueger was named chairman with Lewis Sawall, Leonard Learman, Wilford Cupp and Paul Schulz on the committee.

The present school building, erected in 1900, has only four rooms and a basement, all of which are in use and still inadequate for the enrollment of 200, it was reported.

The 40-year-old building would be razed and the new structure erected on the same site, according to initial plans. Actual building is not planned before 1941 or possibly 1942.

Relief Corps Will Sponsor Luncheon, Card Party Friday

New London — The Women's Relief corps will sponsor a public dessert luncheon and card party at Odd Fellow hall on Friday afternoon, March 8, it was announced this week by Mrs. Peter Schuh, president. In charge of the event will be Mrs. L. J. Polaski, chairman, Mrs. Ed Kleinbrook, Mrs. Ed Jagoditch, Mrs. Irvin Darrow, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Floyd Dudley.

Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter Toepeke, 515 Wallace street, at 7:30 Tuesday evening. Mrs. Henry Mumm will be assisting hostess.

Mrs. Irma McRand of Bear Creek and Mrs. Irvin Darrow will be hostesses for the regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge at the Odd Fellow hall Tuesday evening.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

LACKED COMFORTS

The other day I brought up the question of whether it would have been pleasant to be a noble during the Middle Ages in Europe. We spoke of the danger which came when a castle was attacked. Those inside the castle might be "starved out," in case the enemy could not clamber over the walls, or batter down the gates.

If there was peace for a long time, the nobles and their families could enjoy life in some ways. They had plenty of food obtained from crops raised by the "serfs" on farms around the castles.

The serfs were people whose duty it was to plow the land, sow the seed and reap the harvest. A serf family had to stay in a certain home year after year. The children had to live where their parents had lived.

If a lord sold a piece of land, he sold the serfs along with the land. They were not exactly slaves, but in some ways they were not much better off than slaves.

Feasting went on inside the castle, and there was dancing as well. Games were popular, and among the games was the one called chess. This game is still in favor at the present day.

A mighty lord, however, could not enjoy things which ordinary people have today. His castle did not have large windows to admit light and fresh air. It was rather dark inside even in the daytime.

At night the nobles had to get along as well as they could with candles and oil lamps. Little did they dream that the day would come when electric lights would glow in millions of homes, even in the dwellings of "numble workmen."

If you thought for a while, you probably could make a list of a hundred things which we have but which those nobles knew nothing about. As a start for the list, we may mention railway service, automobiles, airplanes, phonographs, radios, sewing machines, shower baths, safety razors, cameras, moving pictures and telephones.

During a certain period of the Middle Ages—between 1099 and 1272—crusades, or "wars of the cross," took place. Hundreds of thousands of knights, nobles, foot soldiers and pilgrims thronged toward Palestine, hoping to take it away from the Turks.

Two of the crusades were partly successful, but in the end there was little gain of power or rights in the Holy Land. Yet the crusades were of value to Europe. The crusaders learned certain things about the world. They brought back knowledge which proved useful to France, England and other nations.

Ohio Entertains Indiana in Key Game of Big Ten

Wisconsin Favored to Beat Minnesota After Losing to Purdue

BIG TEN STANDINGS

Wisconsin	2	7	222	315	388
Chicago	1	8	111	259	334

BY TOM SILER
CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten basketball spotlight shifts to Columbus where Ohio State's still-hopeful Buckeyes entertain Indiana in the key game on tonight's hardwood program.

The Bucks, who nosed out the Hoosiers for the title a year ago, can all but knock Indiana out of the picture with a victory tonight. The same two teams meet again a week hence in Bloomington.

Purdue, the top quintet with eight triumphs in nine games, faces Iowa, an equally hopeful but less formidable aggregation. All of the contenders survive Saturday's schedule, sending the teams into the stretch run with three contests remaining and four aggregations still having a look-in at the crown.

Purdue had the closest call, defeating Wisconsin's ninth-place five, 48 to 45, in an overtime tilt. The Boilermakers squeezed out five points in the extra stanza to the Badgers' two to gain the decision.

Chicago which has won only one of nine engagements, gave Indiana a scare but the Hoosiers tightened their defense in the closing minutes and won, 38 to 34. Illinois had a breeze against Michigan, 51 to 28. Northwestern finished strong to whip Iowa, 39 to 29, with Dick Klein counting 19 points. Don Carlson scored 20 points but Minnesota fell before Ohio State, 48 to 43.

Tonight's Outlook
Predictions on tonight's games with team records:

Iowa (3-6) at Purdue (8-1): The Boilermakers figure to take this one by about 12 points, maybe more if they can hold Siegel to less than a dozen points.

Indiana (8-2) at Ohio State (6-3): This figures to be the closest game of the night, but we'll strong along with Indiana by four points. The Bucks now are playing their best ball of the season but lack the balance and versatility of the Hoosiers.

Illinois (6-3) at Chicago (1-8): The Maroons scare 'em but don't beat 'em, this season it seems. Their zone defense has troubled almost all their foes but Hapac and Co. should win by eight points.

Northwestern (5-4) at Michigan (4-5): Another victory for the Wildcats inasmuch as the Wolverines apparently have cracked wide open. Should be close if Klein is held in check.

Wisconsin (2-7) at Minnesota (3-6): Nothing at stake but this should be a close one. Our choice is Wisconsin by three points.

Auctioneers to Oppose Antigo

Teams Will Meet at Trucker Armory Tuesday Evening

Clintonville — After losing a 39 to 33 game to the Oshkosh Chris Crafts Saturday night, the Clintonville Auctioneer basketball team will turn its attention to the Antigo Elks who will invade the armory Tuesday evening. In a preliminary game, the Transport Club will clash with the Bear Creek five at 7:15. The main attraction is scheduled for 8:15.

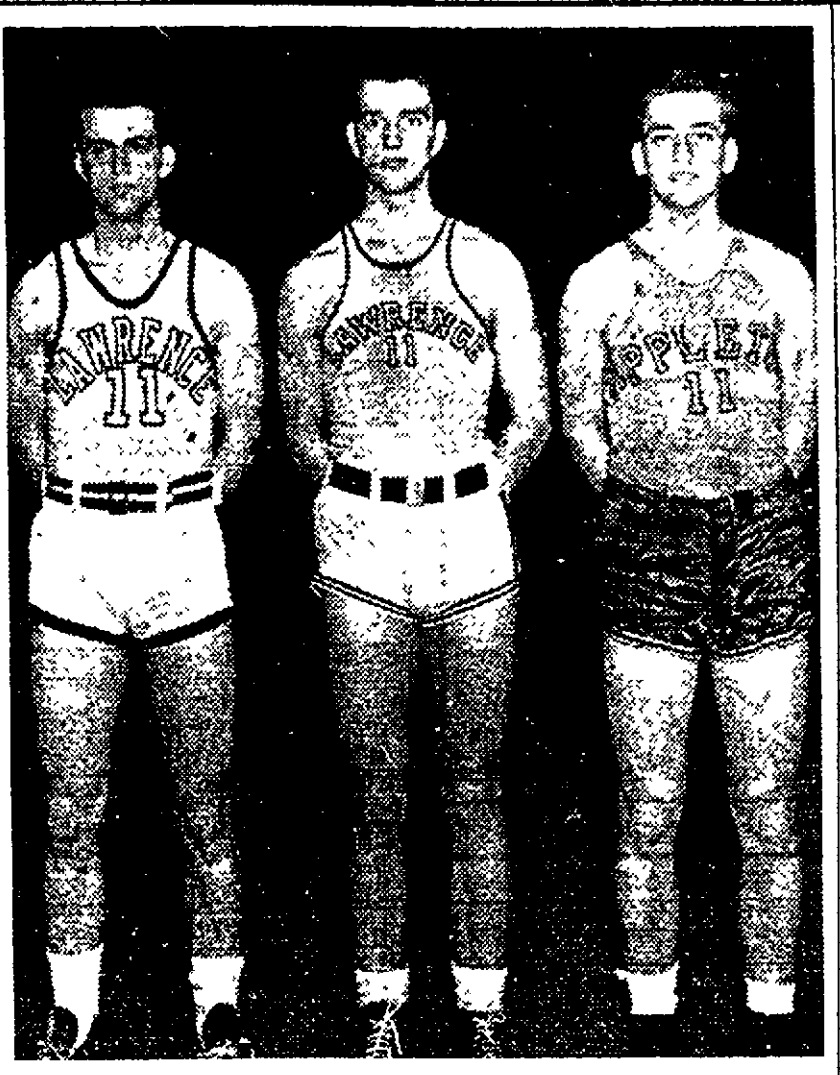

The Elks cage team is headed by George Swenson, former Green Bay Packer center, and the quintet has marked up a victory over barn storming Green Bay Packer basketball team. The rest of the Antigo lineup is composed of former Antigo high stars.

The Auctioneers' defeat at the hands of the Chris Crafts was a tough one to lose. Sid Felts, big center and sparkplug of the contingent, was forced to the sidelines because of four fouls early in the second half. Mike Foley, who performed for the Clintonville, followed Felts. Slats Gretzinger, guard, was the last Auctioneer to leave the contest with four fouls charged against him.

While the Clintonville team was attempting to get straightened out after losing three regulars, the Oshkosh five began connecting from mid-floor and made five out of six attempts. At the start of the game the Auctioneers had clear sailing and had built up a 10 point lead. Fred Nimz, former Stevens Point teacher star's entrance in the game at the half was the turning point. He controlled the rebounds and worked well as a feeder for Oshkosh.

Colonel Clem Bohr's starting lineup against the Elks Tuesday evening will see John Reed and Mike Foley at forwards, Jimmie Elank and Slats Gretzinger at guards, and Sid Felts at center.

THE BUESING BASKETEERS

Basketball fortunes of Lawrence college and Appleton High school have been pretty much the subject of conversation when these members of the Buesing family got together this winter. Sons of Mrs. George Buesing, 221 E. Roosevelt street, two of the boys are at Lawrence and one at the high school and their names figure prominently in the box scores. They are, left to right, Kenneth, for the last three years a Lawrence varsity guard, Warren, forward on the Lawrence freshman squad, and Ralph, center on the Appleton high junior varsity team.

It was more or less by accident that the three turned up with No. 11 on their jerseys. The number is Ken's number on the varsity squad and Ralph may have asked for it at the high school to follow Ken's footsteps. But the attendants in the cage at Alexander gym insist they just happened to hand a No. 11 jersey to Warren. (Post-Crescent Photo.)

Bits About Bowling

by Dick Davis

WITH DUE RESPECT to local alleys and their operators, there seems to be a crying need for more and better bowling facilities in Appleton. League keepers, proprietors and others interested in the sport are unanimous in the opinion that local pinsters would make good use of another 12 or 16 alleys.

The game is growing by leaps and bounds throughout the country and reached a record peak in Appleton this season. Though there is a potentially large field of participants, especially women and 'teen age boys and girls, the game in Appleton is at the leveling off mark because of the limited number of alleys.

Local alleys have reached the saturation point what with league bowling taking over the drives each weekday night. Alley managers report they were forced to turn down many prospective leagues at the start of this season because their schedules were full. Too, hundreds of casual bowlers are turned away during the season.

With the exception of those establishments having an odd alley, there is opportunity for open, or social, bowling only on Saturdays and Sundays, giving rise to the oft heard remark, "You gotta be in a league in order to bowl these days." It is pointed out that because of the many conflicting weekend activities (shopping, church, parties, etc.) a man has little opportunity to enjoy the sport with his wife or children, bowling being one of the few sports in which the whole family can compete on a comparatively equal basis.

The obvious solution is for some person or organization to expand present facilities or build a new establishment. A modern plant equipped with air-conditioning, improved lighting and up-to-date bowling equipment would be welcomed with wide open arms and should bring a handsome return to its sponsor.

Ruby Steiner of the Seymour Women's league looked like a female Andy Varipapa when she cleaned three difficult splits this week. She wiped off the 4-6-10, the 5-7 and the 5-10. Marion Keune of the same circuit picked off a 4-6.

Keplers in the Appleton women's leagues polished off a host of wide-open setups and here they are — V. Luebeck, 4-7-9; A. Kenitzer, 3-9-10; G. Miesling, 7-9-10; G. Ashman, 5-7; A. Van Caster, 6-10; G. Koerner, 6-10, 5-7; A. Joecks, 5-7; A. Breitenbach, 4-6-10.

Many thanks to the women for their cooperation in supplying us with this information. As for the men —

Mellow Brews won but one game from Appleton State Bank in a Knights of Columbus league match, but they consider it quite an achievement for it is only the second game they have won from the Bankers in 18 game, or three years of bowling against them.

Popped over to Zion Lutheran alleys this week and found evidence of some mighty good pin whacking. Wally Grimmer is leading the pack with a sparkling 183-pin average while Fred Hoffman is close behind with a 179 average, and Bob Ecker is third high with 173 for this season with a 178 mark.

Dorothea Leisinger, deputy city clerk, is pining the women keepers with an average of 159. Ruth Ross is averaging 155. Nora Hennig has a mark of 154 and Hilda Buske's average is 147.

Other leading keepers in the men's department include: W. Saiberlich 175, H. Deeg 175, C. Eggert 175, C. Braeger 174, N. Johnson 173, A. Ecker 173, L. Schoenke 168, E. Pirner 168, N. Belling 167, E. Stecker 166, W. Berg 165, A. Disio 164, G. Schoenke 164, O. Sager 164, O. Refke 164, H. Gleisner 163, C. Kussmann 162, H. Eggert 162, S. Peotter 161, R. Cook 161, W. Schwandt 161, A. Tank 161, C. Casper 160, L. Werley 160, T. Odio 160.

Merchant league keepers gave the Arcade pin boys a workout Friday night when they felled practically everything in sight. There were 12 team games and more than 1,000, four team series over 3900 and four team totals above the tough 3,000 mark.

Schlafer Hardware cut loose with games of 223, 1,015 and 1,002 for a 2,940 high series of the night, but lost two games to Mellow

Marquette Bows To Michigan State

Hilltop Defense All Right So Chandler Seeks Some Scoring

Milwaukee — Bill Chandler, Marquette basketball coach, is looking for a combination that will give his team some scoring power.

There's nothing much wrong with the defense, as the Hilltoppers proved in losing to the strong Michigan State team Saturday night, 21 to 17, in a dogged duel of defensive play.

So Chandler plans to stress offense in drills this week for Marquette's winup with Notre Dame here next Saturday night.

The Hilltoppers, without two regulars who were dropped from the squad last week for violating training rules, made only four field goals against Michigan State, at the same time limiting the visiting Spartans to six.

Forward Bill McDonald, who sank seven free throws and one basket, was the only surviving member of Marquette's original starting lineup this season. Bobby Deenen, stellar forward, saw little action because of a knee injury, but hopes to be in shape by next week-end.

Training Camp Notes

By the Associated Press
LEAWATER, Fla. — Dolph Camilli's ears should be burning out in California today. President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers didn't mince words in informing everybody within range that the chunky first baseman could stay on his ranch forever before he would get a contract for more than $15,000.

Avalon, Calif. — The Chicago Cubs' brain trust is worried over the prospect that Stan Hack, the club's only third baseman, won't be able to do much training and may not even be able to open the season because of a recent operation. He is expected to report March 15. The Cubs' roster lists four shortstops, two first basemen, but only Bill Herman at second and Hack at third.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — Four consecutive world championships haven't dulled the enthusiasm of the New York Yankees. It was disclosed today, as the champs opened camp, that Pitches Vernon Gomez and Johnny Murphy had to be restrained officially to keep them from starting training last week. The club passed a rule that no player could work out before Manager Joe McCarthy arrived.

Tampa, Fla. — Lee Grissom, the outpour pitcher the Cincinnati Reds traded to the Yankees, taunted his former teammates as he passed through here to his new headquarters.

"What a mistake the Reds made in trading me to the Yankees," he declared. "I'm going to be beating down against Cincinnati everytime I face them in an exhibition game. My arm feels great."

Catcher Ernie Lombardi arrived for the opening of the Reds' camp and planned to talk over his contract squabble with club officials today.

Anaheim, Calif. — The Philadelphia Athletics camp is still gossiping about a 373-foot home run drive Bob Johnson delivered on his first trip to the plate over the weekend. The Messrs. Mark also are excited about their "kid" infield, starring Benny McCoy at second base.

Orlando, Fla. — With four catchers seeking to squeeze into three berths on the Washington Senators' squad, Manager Buck Harris turned over to Coach Bennie Bengough today the task of developing Jake Early and Al Evans, slated for the "squeeze." Rick Ferrell and Tony Giuliani are the heavy duty receivers again.

Clintonville Club Observes 35th Anniversary of Rotary

Clintonville — The thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Rotary was observed with a dinner for Rotarians and their wives at Hotel Marston Friday evening. Walter A. Olen, the first president of the Clintonville Rotary club, traced the development of Rotary International through the 35 years. The movement was begun Feb. 23, 1905, in Chicago when a small group of business men met to discuss common problems. Those first meetings were held at the various business establishments of the members, rotating from one to the other—hence the name Rotary club. Since that time the movement has grown until today there are clubs in 80 different countries. There are in all 5,020 clubs with a total of 210,000 members. "Service" is the keyword of Rotary, and its slogan is "He profits most who serves best."

In reviewing the history of the Clintonville club, Mr. Olen said that its 10 remaining charter members have had 800 meals together, listened to 800 programs and have sung more than 2,000 songs together. The local club was organized in 1924 with 20 charter members, of whom ten are still active in the club. They are Walter A. Olen, Otto Olen, D. J. Rohrer, Max Stieg, Richard Milbauer, F. A. Spearbraker, Julius Spearbraker, L. A. Heuer, Dr. G. W. Spang and E. J. Perkins. The club now has 32 members and D. J. Rohrer is its president. During the 16 years the Clintonville club has initiated 38 other members, of which 14 moved away, 13 dropped out of the club and 11 died.

Scout Leaders Present
Special guests at the meeting were Boy Scout leaders in this city. The Rotary club was active in helping to get scouting organized in Clintonville and in 1927 selected Percy Hughes as the first scoutmaster. This first troop is now Troop 21 of the Valley Council. Mr. Hughes was among the scoutmasters, assistants and other leaders present at the dinner.

Other guests of the club were the three school children who won the prizes in the Rotary observance contest sponsored here during the last week. Pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the public and parochial schools were asked to identify the flags of 73 different countries and identify the dolls dressed to represent those countries which were on display in the C. F. Schroeder window. The winners were Melvin Jauck, who identified 60 flags and 9 dolls correctly; John Hafeman with 54 flags and 9 dolls; Ruth Janke with 47 flags and 12 dolls. The contestants also were required to write a 200 word composition on the life and customs of one of the countries represented. Also a guest of the Rotarians was Miss Gloria Block of this city, who loaned was strung across a corn field. A duck flew into the field, gobbled a piece of corn and was hooked like a fish.

Crawford said several duck-fishers had been arrested and explained they used hooks instead of shot guns because it was a quicker way of catching ducks out of season.

Homemakers' Club To be Organized

Arrangements to be Outlined at Kimberly Meeting Tuesday Evening

Kimberly — Miss Marguerite Brong, in charge of the homemaking department of the Kimberly vocational and adult education school, is planning to organize a homemakers' club among Kimberly women. First steps will be taken at the cooking school sponsored by the department, and scheduled to start at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the village hall.

All women of the community are eligible. Miss Brong announced, and monthly meetings are contemplated. The free cooking school will be conducted by Miss Josephine Engol, and lentil dishes will be emphasized.

23 Cases of Contagion Reported During Week

Twenty-three cases of contagion were reported in Outagamie county during the week ended Feb. 17, according to information received by Miss Marie Kiern, county nurse from the state board of health. Appleton reported 11 cases of chicken pox, two of scarlet fever and 3 of whooping cough. Grand Chute reported two cases of chicken pox and one of scarlet fever. Hortonville reported three cases of influenza and one of tuberculosis.

William Gast Dies After Long Illness

Clintonville — William Gast, 58, life-long resident of this community, died at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon after an illness of three years. Born in the town of Larrabee, Mr. Gast operated a farm about a mile north of this city for more than thirty years. Survivors are the widow and three sons, Arnold of Appleton, Clarence and Ervin, Clintonville; and one brother Herman Gast of Clintonville.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:45 Tuesday afternoon at the Heuer chapel and at 2 o'clock in St. Martin Lutheran church by the Rev. W. O. Speckhard. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Gertrude Genskow, Mae Patterson and Roberta Wartinbee of Oshkosh State Teachers' college spent the weekend at their homes here.

Order of Eastern Star will meet at the Masonic temple Tuesday evening. Following the meeting there will be a talk on the "Great Pyramid and the Present War" by a speaker from Chicago.

Bishop Pegler Decides He'd Better Dig Up Credentials

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—There is no telling how far the Rev. Father Coughlin may go, so just to play safe I am going to dig up my credentials as a bishop of some church in Colorado, the name of which escapes me at the moment, and protect my interests. I am just anticipating the day when it is established that everyone in this country must go to one church or another under the Coughlin system of government.

When people must go to church or go to jail a great mass of citizens who are now non-church-goers will be in the market for a nice, convenient church connection, and that is where my bishop's license will come in handy. In order to prove that they belong to a church and go to it people will have to possess church cards, and they will have to get them punched like a meal ticket or get a stamp every Sunday and possibly once or twice during the week.

I am not bothering my head about what Father Coughlin thinks would be a fair initiation fee into a legal American church or what he has in mind as weekly dues or assessments, but I will guarantee this: I will guarantee that nobody will undercut me, because I aim to have me a great big plant, short services and a system of fees, dues and assessments so small that they will defy competition.

In California the ham 'n' eggs racket was a great success on a penny a day, but I am no pig for money, and I probably will be able to get the collection down to a penny a week in my place, and still do very well for Bishop Pegler by running a fast grind. My services will be only about three or four minutes, just long enough for my congregation to get their church cards punched or stamped, so that they can't be picked up by the brown shirts during the ensuing week and tossed into a concentration camp as atheists.

"In and out, fast and no waiting, and please don't block the aisles!" will be the plan of my church, and they won't have to wait for my sermon, because I will have them printed on doggers and hung up on a spike at the door, and each customer can grab one as he goes out. They will be very good, sanitary sermons, too—all about the money-changers and international bankers and the value of gold—and nobody is ever going to stick me for heresy under the Coughlin system of government and compulsory religion, because I am going to plagiarize Father Coughlin's own stuff, and nobody ever will be able to prove what it means, if anything.

to be taking an awful chance. I say that because we now have a law which compels a man to join a labor union and pay initiation fees, dues and assessments whether he wants to or not, and under this system the unions sometimes pledge themselves to propositions involving religious and political principles which brutally violate the principles of some of the members. Therefore, I foresee that we might easily come to adopt a sort of religious Wagner act, whereby all Americans must belong to some church and pay whatever fees, dues and so forth that church demands of its members, failing which they would be expelled and thus would become atheists, subject to imprisonment or worse.

I will have to ask the head man of my church if my credentials are still fresh. I forget his name, but I think it is Wright or Rice, and I never saw him, but he bished me several years ago as a publicity bishop, the same as the army and navy appoint publicity lieutenants and captains in time of war. My warrant is stamped "press" across the face of it, meaning that it is compulsory, but it is legal, all right, under the law of Colorado. The usual charge is $25.

Just after repeal the smart and lucky ones who jumped in and got saloon licenses discovered that they had something really worth while, because the number of licenses was limited, and I figure that it will be about the same with church franchises when churchgoing becomes compulsory. They will limit the number of churches and, boy, will we clean up! Do you think I am nuts? Well, I you do just analyze the Rev. Father Coughlin's proposition about religion and atheism and you will realize that Bishop Pegler is one smart dummy.

Stop Before Driving Onto Main Highway Traffic Head War

Captain Charles Steidl of county traffic squad today warned motorists to stop before driving onto all main highways and roads the county. Snowplows have knocked down some of the stop and caution signs, but motorists should not take this as an excuse for not stopping before entering main artery of traffic, Captain Steidl warned.
